STATE BOOSTED IN RADIO TALK BY J. M. DEVINE

Commissioner of Immigration
Calls North Dakota "Big Rich and Good State"

WAR DIFFICULTIES

Many of Ills of Farmer
Traced to Overproduction
of Wheat by Mr. Devine

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—J. M. Devine, Commissioner of Immigration of North Dakota, in a talk broadcast from radio station WLAG here last night.

As Minnesota turned from producing wheat as its one big crop so North Dakota is turning from wheat to corn, hogs and the dairy cow, the commissioner said.

"Some years ago Minnesota produced about eighty million bushels of wheat annually," he said. "She now produces, but twenty-seven million bushels. She quit wheat production from dire necessity. She now produces in place of her former large wheat production $133,000,000 worth of cream, butter and milk, $45,000,000 worth of poultry and eggs, $72,000,000 worth of livestock. Wisconsin was once a wheat state. She gave it up years ago as a losing proposition. Today she is producing $205,000,000 worth of cream, butter and cheese with poultry and livestock in relative proportion."

North Dakota was described by Mr. Devine as "a big, rich and good state," North Dakota, he said, is one-third as large as the German empire, which feeds, clothes and sustains 60,000,000 people as compared to North Dakota's population of 673,000 people. The resources in agriculture, coal and clay are great, he said.

Resources Great

"We have state institutions in plenty and the executive machinery in business, railroads, cities, banks, schools, churches, to render prompt, efficient service to two-million population," he said. "Yet in spite of this state's great progress in all those things which go to make up a great and progressive commonwealth, our farmers who constitute the great source of our wealth and upon whose prosperity depends the prosperity of the state have recently and through organized effort appealed to the United States Congress to call a special session of Congress to enact promptly legislation that would side them over their serious and distressing financial situation."

"Why this unusual condition? The answer is that since the close of the war the farmers of the great wheat states and more especially the farmers of North Dakota have been obliged to travel a hard and rocky road, and at the present time many of them are fighting a rear end battle to hold for themselves and their children the farms and homes that they own. North Dakota is largely a single tract producer and that production is wheat. Inflation with its high prices for all production of factory and farm came quickly with the declaration of war and deflation with its consequent lowering of all prices for all commodities came even more quickly with the declaration of peace. Both inflation and deflation caught our farmers and more especially the single tract wheat farmer on the hot end of both propositions. The high war price of all industrial finished material and of which the farmer is the nation's greatest buyer reached our farmers first and the low price of such manufactured material after the war reached him last. Three-fourths of the farm acreage of the middle east and western sections of our state was seeded to wheat and that wheat when ready for the market was to be purchased at a fixed war price, $2.25 per bushel. That deal with Uncle Sam brought to the farmers of the great wheat section a loss of wheat in every crop of wheat he produced. Why? Because there was almost a total failure of his wheat crop and he did not have the wheat to sell when the selling time arrived. In addition to this unfortunate fact, failure after failure of that particular crop has been the history of that particular section since the war. Would it be a low level market while he was obliged to buy in a high level market. His $100 worth of wheat would only purchase $60 worth of what he must purchase by."

War's Aftermath

"The great war closed November 11, 1918. That great event came quickly. It came at a time when North Dakota was about to place on the market a seven million acre crop of wheat and which crop was seeded, harvested and threshed under the high level war price for labor of every character. The high level cost included machinery and numerous other overhead expenses incident to farm activities and life. That vast crop acreage was the loyal, patriotic expression of our farmers in their laudable effort to feed not only our home people and army but all the people and all the armies of our allies who fought with us across the seas. It was a heroic attempt on their part to help in every way they knew how to destroy that army whose leaders boldly challenged two-thirds of the civilized world to their rightful and just place to their spot in the sun. The farmers of this country and state made good on the big job assigned them. Many, too

Taking advantage of an exceptionally clear sky many local people yesterday, witnessed the partial eclipse of the sun which occurred here between the hours of two and four. On the Cataline Islands, where the eclipse was total, it took place between two thirty and four thirty. According to O. W. Roberts, meteorologist at the local weather bureau, the eclipse here was at its height about one-eighth of a partial eclipse. While a forecast of a warmer condition had been given out, Mr. Roberts said, the effect of the eclipse was to make it cooler. After the eclipse had passed the weather warmed up according to Mr. Roberts.

TO INTEREST BUSINESSMEN IN FARMERS

Aaron Sapiro To Speak in Fargo About Cooperative
Marketing

Fargo, Sept. 11.—Aaron Sapiro of California, who has been one of the foremost advocates of co-operative marketing of farm products, will address businessmen of Fargo and Moorhead at a meeting to be held in the Fargo Commercial club, Wednesday.

This evening Mr. Sapiro will address the farmers of Clay and surrounding counties on the definite proposal of organizing co-operative potato marketing units to affiliate with the Minnesota Potato exchange.

Message For Businessmen

How co-operative marketing by the farmers will aid the businessman and the part the businessman should play in co-operative marketing, organization efforts will be the main themes of Mr. Sapiro's address.

Community Problem

Mr. Sapiro believes that aiding the farmer to get a better and more lucrative market for his products, is a community problem in which the businessman is as vitally interested as the farmer.

CREAMERY DESTROYED

FIRE DESTROYS BIG BUILDING

Loss of About $200,000 in Breckenridge Conflagration

Breckenridge, Minn., Sept. 11.—Loss of approximately $200,000 was caused when the Benesh and Pierce building here, the largest in the town, was destroyed by fire early today.

The building housed the James Jewelry, Wilson and Morrisey Shoe store, McMullen Dress store, Benish and Pierce Dry Goods store, and offices of a dozen lawyers and doctors. The fire started in the basement from an undetermined origin, it was said.

CHARGE LEMKE TOWNLEY AS BETRAYERS

Leaguers Will Be Done With Two Men, Liedbach Believes

GIVE FARMERS CONTROL

Meeting at Bismarck Will "Iron Out Differences"
He Says

Fargo, Sept. 11.—Declaring that the "rank and file of the Nonpartisan League" had been betrayed by the Townley-Lemke leadership and by the delegates who attended the state convention in Fargo in 1922, A. A. Liedbach, formerly of Killdeer, N. D., and at one time a member of the league executive committee, said in Fargo that the state committee made a mistake in recalling the old delegates to the Bismarck convention next month.

"The delegates to the 1922 convention betrayed their constituents in that they failed to take over the Courier-News for the farmers," he said, after his arrival from Santa Cruz county, California, where he has a small fruit ranch.

Says Townley Misled

"The delegates came to that convention instructed to take over the Courier-News from the Nonpartisan League Publishing company, but they listened to Lemke and Townley's talk to the effect that the paper was in splendid financial condition, but that it should be left in the hands of the publishing company so that no one could take it away from the farmers. As a member of the executive committee, I did my best to make the delegates see the facts. The Nonpartisan Publishing company did not pay a nickel to the support of the paper, and I knew that if it was to continue as the farmers' paper the farmers would have to take it over."

Mr. Liedbach said that he believed the forthcoming convention in Bismarck would be a good thing in that it would give the leaguers an opportunity to iron out their differences. He said the leaguers were done with Lemke and Townley, did everything they could to build up the organization, but who did more than any other faction to tear it down.

Farmers Must Control

The only way for the league to succeed and be in force, he said, was for it to recognize with the farmers in absolute control. He declared the fight must continue for better marketing conditions or "everybody will go to the scrap heap."

EXPECT BOARD BEGIN PROBE OF NAVY DISASTER

Rear Admiral Pratt as Senior Member to Conduct Investigation of Wreck

PLACE DEAD AT 23

Will Involve Explanation of Commanders of Seven Destroyers in Calamity

Santa Barbara, Sept. 11.—A board of inquiry with the Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt, as its senior member was expected at the scene of the seven wrecked naval destroyers off Honda, 75 miles north of here today, to investigate the disaster which cost the lives of 23 enlisted men and set a record for peace time naval losses.

The death list was placed at 23 last night with the official announcement that 22 are missing and one dead. The inquiry will involve explanation of the commanders of the vessels which went ashore in the fog last Saturday while cruising at 20 knots an hour in heavy fog from San Francisco to San Diego.

TELLS OF WRECK

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 11.—R. A. Coffman, of Fargo, a fireman aboard the Flagship, Delphy, one of the seven United States destroyers which crashed into the rocks a few miles north of here Saturday is in a hospital here as one of the survivors of the wreck. In the disaster 23 sailors lost their lives and Coffman has given one of the most vivid descriptions of the affair.

"We left San Francisco early in the day for San Diego. We were going about 20 knots an hour and the seven ships were in single file. We headed the line, it was very foggy and the seas were rising.

"At five minutes past nine we crashed into the rocks with a terrible shock. I was in my hammock and was thrown overboard. It was a terrible sight as I went on deck. There were our seven ships piled in terrible confusion all over the rocks. Men were screaming and yelling for help. They were jumping into the big waves and we could see them being smashed against the rocks by the big waves. Then they would disappear under the oil that covered the water from the sinking ships. One by one they disappeared over with twenty men trapped in her hold.

Screams Were Awful

It was awful to hear the screams as the wrecked ship. Our ship was caught on the rocks about a hundred yards from shore. Someone got a line across the mainland and we went hand over hand to the beach. We tried to get some of the men out of the water that were struggling about but there was not much chance to rescue any.

They say that we did not have our right bearings about an hour before we struck and I was very wrong for we headed straight into the jagged rocks that form that point. Coffman suffered cuts and bruises in the heavy seas but is not seriously injured. His actions and work in the face of danger have been commended by officers of the fleet who stated he showed remarkable coolness and courage. He is to leave here for San Diego tomorrow.

NAVY OFFICERS SHOWED GREAT HEROISM, SAID

Refugees From Australian
Steamer Tell of Work of
Men at Tokio

London, Sept. 11.—The Kobe correspondent of the Central News says refugees arriving on the Empress of Australia credited the officers of the Naval Destroyers 217 with the most outstanding heroism after the earthquake.

This was the craft up Tokyo bay to rescue marooned foreigners in the Japanese capital.

Ocean going vessels rarely attempt to steam further up the gulf than Yokohama and for the Americans to take their ships to Tokyo through the shallow waters of the upper bay after the upheaval involved unknown danger.

Commanders of two other ships at Yokohama warned the U. S. Navy men that it was too early to attempt to reach Tokyo. Nevertheless Destroyer 217 made the run and the Americans were the first rescuers to reach the city.

POST OFFICE RECEIPTS ARE ON INCREASE

Local Post Office Shows Remarkable Gain During the Last Few Quarters

SHOWS IMPROVED TIMES

Compares Favorably With Other Cities of North Dakota, According to Latest Reports

The increase in postal receipts for the first two months of the present fiscal year total nearly one-half of the increase for the past year ending June 30, 1923, according to figures given out today by Assistant Postmaster O. Lundquist. According to Mr. Lundquist the total receipts for the past fiscal year as compared with the year ending June 30, 1922, are $14,784.30 for the year ending June 30, 1923, and $14,248.62 for the year ending June 30, 1922. The increase over this period being $535.68.

Mr. Lundquist's figures show an increase in the receipts of every quarter, with the exception of the first of the past year over the year previous. The receipts, according to figures for the year ending in June, 1923, were: $35,237.88 for the first quarter; $35,232.67 for the second quarter; $32,974.66 for the third quarter, and $31,198.69 for the fourth quarter as compared with $29,080.80 for the first quarter; $34,226.03 for the second quarter, and $37,192.77 for the third quarter of the year ending June 30, 1923.

For the first two months of the present fiscal year the receipts and increases over the first two months of last year are: For July and August, 1922, $7,802.26 for July and $12,513.76 for August, as compared with $12,897.87 for July, 1923, and $15,335.35 for August, 1923, while the increase for these two months totaled $7,515.19.

The increase in receipts compares very favorably with the increases in other cities of the state and would tend to show a favorable business condition.

The Weather

For Bismarck and vicinity: Fair tonight and Wednesday; continued cool; probably light frost tonight.

An area of high pressure is centered over Montana and cool weather prevails over the Northwest. Temperatures were near freezing in North Dakota and Montana this morning but only a few places reported light frost. Light precipitation occurred from the Dakotas eastward to the upper Great Lakes region, but elsewhere the weather is generally fair.

Road Conditions

The roads throughout the State are mostly in good condition but the main trails are getting rough in places.

KU KLUX KLAN OBEYS ORDERS TO UNMASK

Grand Dragon of Oklahoma
Tells Members to Cease
Wearing Robes and Hoods in Public

GOVERNOR VICTOR

First Groups Meet at Bristow Where They Obey
Order Formally

Oklahoma City, Sept. 11.—The invisible empire laid aside its invisibility today submitting to the edict of Gov. J. C. Walton, against masked parades.

All members of the Ku Klux Klan in the state had orders from the Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma realm that robes and hoods no longer were to be worn in public.

The unmasking of the Klan left Gov. Walton in command of the field in his war on the secret organization to which he attributed flogging and other mob outrages but it was not without violent protest that the state Klan officials decided to bow to his edict.

Grand Dragon Jewett made it plain that only the Governor's threat of martial law for any activities in which masked demonstrations were held led to the decision to discard robes and hoods in public.

A Klan meeting near Bristow last night was the first to unmask under the governor's order.

Result of Troop Threat

It came when preparations were under way by Governor Walton to send troops, if necessary, to prevent a series of Klan demonstrations scheduled over the state this week, the first of which was advertised for Bristow last night.

Adjutant General B. P. Markham had been instructed earlier in the day to hold National Guard units in readiness for movement to the counties in which the Klan parades were planned.

"The Klan is for law, and order first, last and all the time. Because of this fact, any parade or masked meeting of any kind in the state of Oklahoma absolutely is forbidden," said the statement of Grand Dragon Jewett.

Masked assemblages were placed under the ban by Governor Walton on the ground that they would lead to disorder and riot in forbidding the appearance in public of masked men. Governor Walton in a statement issued Saturday night, asserted that the trail of floggings and other mob outrages in the state led to masked organizations.

He named the Ku Klux Klan as being responsible for virtually all the mob activities in Tulsa county, which is under martial law.

No Laws

"While there is no law operating on the statute books of Oklahoma which forbids meetings of this kind, rather than inflict martial law upon the citizens of this state, I thought it best to forbid any parade until after these affairs have been straightened out," said Grand Dragon Jewett.

Jewett's statement came on the heels of an announcement by H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, that the national organization would take no action in the Oklahoma controversy over masked demonstrations but would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the state realm.

"It would appear that it is the desire of Governor Walton to force martial law upon the counties of this state," Jewett said. "It is evident that he would be delighted to find some opportunity to enforce his authority."

"Since the governor has apparently declared war on the Klan and issued his edict that there shall be no more parades in masks or public assemblies of klansmen were we to follow our constitutional rights under the laws of this state and our country, it would give him much pleasure to invoke martial law thereby getting about the disgrace upon the state of Oklahoma."

ELECTION ON BOND ISSUE CONSIDERED

City Commission to Pass Formal Resolution at Special Meeting

Sentiment Is to Make Amount High Enough to Cover All Contingencies

Decision to call a special bond election was reached at a meeting of the city commission last evening, but the formal resolution will not be passed until this evening. A sum in the amount of $235,000 has been tentatively suggested, but final determination on this point has been left open until the assessed valuation is accurately determined. County Auditor Johnson was to supply these figures for City Auditor Adkins today for consideration at this evening's meeting.

That portion of the plan to be financed by special assessments warrants will be restricted solely to the distribution system. The general plan will be paid for out of the bond sale. It is generally felt that the bond issue should be high enough to care for all contingencies and then if all bonds authorized are not needed it will not be necessary to issue them. Public sentiment is for placing the bond issue high enough so there will be no question of an early completion of the plant.

Contractors on the various features of the plant are busy at work and there will be no suspension of activity due to the temporary hitch in the finance plans.

Bids were opened last evening from the local bidders for public funds. Practically all the bids were identical. Two-and-one half percent was offered on daily balances and 5% was bid for time deposits. These bids were referred to the finance committee.

It was decided to advertise for bids on an outside call bin for the detention hospital. Only three or four tons can be stored under the present system. Capacity for from ten to fifteen tons will be arranged.

Property owners on eleventh street near Avenue D, petitioned for three blocks of sewer. This was referred to the city engineer for investigation.

E. S. Allen on behalf of property owners on thirteenth and fourteenth streets entered a protest against assessments for the sanitary sewer department. The property in question was not benefited. The protest was taken under consideration and referred to the city attorney.

Alexander Bruce, street commissioner of Fargo, was present at the meeting. In conversation with city officials he commended Bismarck's paving, especially the extent of it, probably unequalled by few cities of this size anywhere. He declared that there were petitions in for pavement in Fargo aggregating more than $500,000.

THOUSANDS SLEEP OUT

Life Begins to Resume Normalcy Despite Horrors That Have Not Ended

Tokio, Sept. 11.—It is announced that the head of the various Japanese insurance companies have decided to pay their full insurance losses not availing themselves of the earthquake clauses in their policies. The banks have asked their government to advance $500,000,000 in order to stabilize finances. The public markets are becoming reestablished and large shipments of rice and other supplies are pouring into the city. Reconstruction, reorganization, and recovery are now the watchwords of the Japanese people. The newspapers that have resumed publication are printing lavish editorials of gratitude for the worldwide sympathy that has been accorded Japan.

HOUSES UNINHABITABLE

Tokio, Sept. 11.—Probably three-fourths of the houses in Tokio are uninhabitable, for while one-half of the capital was destroyed the other half was damaged severely.

The thousands who are sleeping out no doubt prefer this since earthquakes continue, some rather sharp. Sleep for the nerve-stricken people is next to impossible.

Arrivals from the Hakone mountains describe the remarkable effect of the earthquake there where mountains toppled over, filling up valleys and burying alive many hundreds of persons. In Tokio some frightful things are being disclosed as the debris is cleared away.

Find New Horrors

Charred bodies are found in groups where the people thought they would be safe from falling tiles—ordinarily the greatest peril to pedestrians in earthquakes.

It will take weeks to dispose of the dead in Tokio, Yokohama, and in the surrounding cities. They are buried equally with the larger cities.

Despite the privations, horrors, and damages suffered in Tokio, life here is returning to normal.

Calls North Dakota "Big Rich and Good State"

WAR DIFFICULTIES

Many of Ills of Farmer
Traced to Overproduction

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.— was compared to that of Minnesota by J. M. Devine, Commissioner of Immigration of North Dakota, in a talk broadcast from radio station
WLAG here last night.

As Minnesota turned from producing wheat as it one big crop so North Dakota is turning from wheat to corn, hogs and the dairy cow, the commissioner said.

"Some years ago Minnesota produced about eighty million bushels of wheat annually," he said. "She now produces but twenty-seven million bushels. She quit wheat production from dire necessity. She now produces in place of her former large wheat production $133,000,000 worth of cream, butter and milk, $45,000,000 worth of poultry and eggs, $72,000,000 worth of livestock. Wisconsin was once a wheat state. She gave it up years ago as a losing proposition.
Today she is producing $205,000,000 worth of cream, butter and cheese and poultry and livestock in relative prosperity."

North Dakota was described by Mr.
Devine as "a big, rich and good state." North Dakota, he said, is one-third as large as the German empire, which feeds, clothes and sustains 60,000,000 people as compared to North Dakota's population of 255,000 people. The resources in agriculture, coal and clay are great, he said.

Resources Great

"We have state institutions in plenty and the executive machinery in business, railroads, cities, banks, schools, churches, to render prompt, efficient service to a two-million population," he said. "Yet in spite of this state's great progress in all those things which go to make up a great and progressive commonwealth, our farmers who constitute the great source of our wealth and upon whose prosperity depends the prosperity of the state have recently and through organized effort appealed to the President of the United States to call a special session of Congress to enact promptly legislation which will over their serious and distressing financial situation."

"Why this unusual condition? The answer is that since the close of the war the farmers of the great wheat states and more especially the farmers of North Dakota have been endeavoring to travel a hard and weary road, and at the present time many of them are fighting a rear end battle to hold for themselves and their children the farms and homes that they own.

North Dakota is largely a single track producer and that production is wheat.
In addition to the high price for production of factory and farm came quickly with the declaration of war and deflation with its consequent lowering of all prices for all commodities came even more quickly with the declaration of peace. Both inflation and deflation caught our farmers and more especially our wheat farmers wheat farmer on the hot end of both propositions. The high war price of all industrial finished material and of which the farmer is the nation's greatest buyer reached our farmers first and the low price of such manufactured material after the war was reached him last. Three-fourths of the farm acreage of the middle east and western sections of our state was seeded to wheat and that wheat when ready for the market was to be purchased at a fixed war price, $2.25 per bushel. That deal with Uncle Sam brought to the farmer a single, continuous section a very heavy loss upon every bushel of wheat he produced.
Why? Because there was almost a total failure of his wheat crop and he did not have the wheat to sell when the selling time arrived.

In addition to this unfortunate fact, failure after failure of that particular crop has been the history of that particular section since the war. What wheat he had to sell was always sold in a low level market while he was obliged to buy in a high level market.
His $100 worth of wheat would only purchase $60 worth of what he must of necessity buy.

War's Aftermath

"The great war closed November 11, 1918. That great event came quickly. It came at a time when North Dakota was about to place on the market a seven million acre crop of wheat and which crop was seeded, harvested and threshed under the high level war price for labor of every character. The high level level cost included machinery and numerous other overhead expenses incident to farm activities and life. That vast crop acreage was the loyal, patriotic expression of our farmers in their laudable effort to feed not only our home people and army but all the people of all the armies of our allies who fought with us across the seas. It was a heroic attempt on their part to help in every way they knew how to destroy that army whose leaders boldly challenged two-thirds of the civilized world to their rightful and just place to their spot in the sun. The farmers of this so as to view it better. Many motion picture firms had stationed men on the islands to take pictures of the eclipse for future circulation throughout the United States, and many scientific men had erected instruments of various types to record the action of the eclipse, according to Mr. Roberts. While cloudy conditions heightened the interest of the pilgrims to the islands, many of the islands many were able to accomplish their work after the clouds cleared away at about the height of the eclipse.

TO INTEREST BUSINESSMEN
IN FARMERS

Aaron Sapiro To Speak in Fargo About Cooperative
Marketing

Fargo, Sept. 11.—Aaron Sapiro of California, who has been one of the foremost advocates of co-operative marketing of farm products, will address businessmen of Fargo and Moorhead at a meeting to be held in the Fargo Commercial club, Wednesday.

This evening Mr. Sapiro will address the farmers of Clay and surrounding counties on the definite proposal of organizing co-operative potato marketing units to affiliate with the Minnesota Potato exchange.

How co-operative marketing by the farmers will aid the businessman and the part the businessman should play in co-operative marketing organizations efforts will be the main themes of Mr. Sapiro's address.

Community Problem

Mr. Sapiro believes that aiding the farmer to get a better and more lucrative market for his products, is a community problem in which the businessman is as vitally interested as the farmer.

Speakers from first hand information on this subject, as he has probably promoted more successful co-operative marketing organizations than any other man in America.

EXPECT BOARD BEGIN PROBE OF NAVY DISASTER

Rear Admiral Pratt as Senior Member to Conduct Investigation of Wreck

Will Involve Explanation of Commanders of Seven Destroyers in Calamity

Santa Barbara, Sept. 11.—A board of inquiry with the Rear Admiral W. V. Pratt, as its senior member was expected at the scene of the seven wrecked naval destroyers off Honda, 75 miles north of here today, to investigate the disaster which cost the lives of 23 enlisted men and set a record for peace time naval losses.

The death list was placed at 23 last night with the official announcement that 22 are missing and one dead.
The inquiry will involve explanation of the commanders of the vessels which went ashore in the fog last Saturday while cruising at 20 knots an hour in heavy fog from San Francisco to San Diego.

TELLS OF WRECK

Santa Barbara, Cal., Sept. 11.—R.
A. Coffman, of Fargo, a fireman aboard the Flagship, Delphy, one of the seven United States destroyers which crashed into the rocks a few miles north of here Saturday in a hospital here as one of the survivors of the wreck. In the disaster 30 sailors lost their lives and Coffman has given one of the most vivid descriptions of the affair.

"We left San Francisco early in the day for San Diego. We were going about 20 knots an hour and the seven ships were in single file.
We headed the line, it was very foggy and the seas were rising.
"At five minutes past nine we crashed into the rocks with a terrible shock. I was in my hammock and was thrown out. It was a terrible sight as I went on deck. There were our seven ships piled in terrible confusion all over the rocks. Men were screaming and yelling for help.
"They were jumping into the high waves and we could see them being smashed against the rocks by the big waves. Then they would disappear under the oil that covered the water from the sinking ships.
One boat near us turned right over with twenty men trapped in her hold.
Screams Were Awful

It was awful to hear the screams as she went down. Our ship was caught on the rocks about a hundred yards from shore. Someone got a line across the mainland and we went hand over hand to the beach.
We tried to get some of the men out of the water that were struggling about but there was not much chance to rescue any.

They said that we did not have our right bearings. We received radio bearings about an hour before we struck and I guess they were wrong for we headed straight into the jagged rocks from that point.
Coffman suffered cuts and bruises in the heavy seas but is not seriously injured. His actions and work in the face of danger have been commended by officers of the fleet who stated he showed remarkable coolness and courage. He is to leave here for San Diego tomorrow.

NAVY OFFICERS SHOWED GREAT HEROISM, SAID

Steamer Tell of Work of
Men at Tokio

London, Sept. 11.—The Kobe correspondent of the Central News says refugees arriving on the Empress of Australia credited the officers of the Naval Destroyers 217 with the most outstanding heroism after the earthquake.

This was the craft up Tokio bay to rescue marooned foreigners in the Japanese capital.
Ocean going vessels rarely attempt to steam further up the gulf than Yokohama and for the Americans to take their ships to Tokio through the shallow water of the upper bay after the upheaval involved unknown danger.

Commanders of two other ships at Yokohama warned the U. S. Navy men that it was too early to attempt to reach Tokio. Never-the-less Destroyer 217 made the run and the Americans were the first rescuers to reach the city.

POST OFFICE
RECEIPTS ARE ON INCREASE

Local Post Office Shows Remarkable Gain During the Last Few Quarters

SHOWS IMPROVED TIMES

Compares Favorably With Other Cities of North Dakota, According to Latest Reports

The increased in postal receipts for the first two months of the present fiscal year total nearly one-half of the increase for the past year ending June 30, 1923, according to figures given out today by Assistant Postmaster O. Lundquist. According to Mr. Lundquist the total receipts for the past fiscal year as compared with the year ending June 30, 1922, are $14,734.39 for the year and June 30, 1922, and $14,248.62 for the year ending June 30, 1923.
The increase over this period being $485.77.

Mr. Lundquist's figures show an increase in the receipts of every quarter, with the exception of the first, of the past year over the year previous. The receipts, according to figures for the year ending in June, 1923, were: $35,237.88 for the first quarter; $35,237.87 for the second quarter; $32,974.66 for the third quarter, and $31,198.69 for the fourth quarter as compared with $29,080.80 for the first quarter; $34,226.03 for the second quarter; $40,808.02 for the third quarter, and $37,133.77 for the fourth quarter of the year ending June 30, 1922.

For the first two months of the present fiscal year the receipts and increases over the first two months of last year are: For July and August, 1922, $7,802.26 for July and $12,613.76 for August, as compared to $12,397.87 for July, 1923, and $15, 233.55 for August, 1923, while the increase for these two months totaled $7,215.19.

The increase in receipts compares very favorably with the increases in other cities of the state and would tend to show a favorable business condition.

KU KLUX KLAN
OBEYS ORDERS TO UNMASK

Grand Dragon of Oklahoma
Tells Members to Cease
Wearing Robes and Hoods in Public

GOVERNOR VICTOR

First Groups Meet at Bristow Where They Obey
Order Formally

Oklahoma City, Sept. 11.—The invisible empire laid aside its invisibility today submitting to the edict of Gov. J. C. Walton, against masked parades.

All members of the Ku Klux Klan in the state had orders from the Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma realm to which he attributed flogging and other mob outrages but it was not without violent protest that the state Klan officials decided to bow to his edict.

Grand Dragon Jewett made it plain that only the Governor's threat of martial law for communities in which masked demonstrations were held led to the decision to discard robes and hoods in public.

A Klan meeting near Bristow last night was the first to unmask under the governor's order.

Result of Troop Threat

It came when preparations were under way by Governor Walton to use troops, if necessary, to prevent a series of Klan demonstrations scheduled over the state this week, the first of which was advertised for Bristow last night.

Adjutant General B. P. Markham had been instructed earlier in the day to hold National Guard units in readiness for movement to the counties in which the Klan parades were planned.

"The Klan is for law and order first and last and all the time. Because of this fact, any parading or meeting of any kind in the state of Oklahoma absolutely is forbidden," said the statement of Grand Dragon Jewett.

"Masked assemblages were placed under the ban by Governor Walton on the ground that they could lead to disorder and riot. In forbidding the appearance in public of masked men, Governor Walton in a statement issued Saturday night, asserted that the trail of floggings and other mob outrages in the state led to masked organizations.
He named the Ku Klux Klan as being responsible for virtually all the mob activities in Tulsa county, which is under martial law.

No Laws

"While there is no law operating on the statute books of Oklahoma which forbids meetings of this kind, rather than inflict martial law upon the citizens of this state, I thought it best to forbid any parade until after these affairs have been straightened out," said Grand Dragon Jewett.

Jewett's statement came on the heels of an announcement by H.
W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Klan, that the national organization would take no action in the Oklahoma controversy over masked demonstrations but would leave the matter entirely in the hands of the state realm.

"It would appear that it is the desire of Governor Walton to force martial law upon the counties of this state," Jewett said. "It is evident that he would be delighted to find some opportunity to enforce his authority."

"Since the governor has apparently declared war on the Klan and issued his edict that there shall be no parades in masks or public assemblies of klansmen we were to follow our constitutional rights under the laws of this state and our country, it would give him much pleasure to invoke martial law thereby casting a shadow of disgrace upon the great state of Oklahoma."

"This action has not been taken because of any fear on the part of the Ku Klux Klan of state troops, but because of fear of the consequences that might arise through disobedience to this despotic edict.

"The method of procedure which will follow this order which has been submitted to ten various klans throughout the state will be covered solely by the future actions taken by Governor Walton."

ELECTION ON BOND ISSUE CONSIDERED

City Commission to Pass Formal Resolution at Special Meeting

Sentiment is to Make Amount High Enough to Cover All Contingencies

Decision to call a special bond election was reached at a meeting of the city commission last evening, but the formal resolution will not be passed until this evening. A sum in the amount of $235,000 has been tentatively suggested, but final determination on this point has been left open until the assessed valuation is accurately determined. County Auditor Johnson was to supply these figures for City Auditor Atkinson today for consideration at this evening's meeting.

That portion of the plan to be financed by special assessment warranted by the restricted solely to the distribution system. The general plan will be paid for out of the bond sale. It is generally felt that the bond issue should be high enough to care for all contingencies and then if all bonds authorized are not needed it will not be necessary to issue the surplus. The plan of placing the bond issue high enough then there will be no question of an early completion of the plan.

Contractors on the various features of the plan are busy at work and there will be no suspension of activity due to the temporary hitch in the finance plan.

Bids were opened last evening from the local banks for public funds.
Practically all the bids were identical. Two-and-one half percent was offered on daily balances and 5% was bid for time deposits. These bids were referred to the finance committee for consideration and referred to the city attorney.

Alexander Bruce, street commissioner of Fargo, was present at the meeting. In conversation with city officials he commended Bismarck's paving, especially the extent of it, probably unequalled by few cities of this size anywhere. He declared that there were petitions in for pavement in Fargo aggregating more than $500,000.

federal call was issued. This is not a special call, but falls within the period in which reports are usually demanded by the department.

Life Begins to Resume Nor-

Tokio, Sept. 11.—It is announced that the head of the various Japanese insurance companies have decided to pay their full insurance loses not availing themselves of the earthquake clauses in their policies.

The banks have asked their government to advance $800,000,000 in order to stabilize finances. The public markets are becoming reestablished and large shipments of rice and other supplies are pouring into the city.

Reconstruction, reorganization, and recovery are now the watchwords of the Japanese people.

The newspapers that have resumed publication are printing lavish editorials of gratitude for the worldwide sympathy that has been accorded Japan.

HOUSES UNINHABITABLE

Tokio, Sept. 11.—Probably three-fourths of the houses in Tokio are uninhabitable, for while one-half of the capital was destroyed the other half was damaged severely.

The thousands who are sleeping out no doubt prefer this since earthquakes continue, some rather sharp.
Sleep for the nerve-stricken people is next to impossible.

Arrivals from the Hakone mountains describe the remarkable effect of the earthquake, the waters maintains topped over filling up valleys and burying alive many hundreds of persons. In Tokio some frightful things are being disclosed as the debris is cleared away.

PEACE LOOMS WITH PARLEY
AT BERLIN

French Ambassador and German Chancellor Continue Their Conference

(By the Associated Press.)

Paris, Sept. 11.—Conversations that are taking place between Jacques de Margerie, French Ambassador to Germany and Chancellor Stresemann, in Berlin are considered by the French government as leading toward a settlement of the reparations question, although it is stated that the chancellor has not made a definite offer either respecting the resistance in the Ruhr or what could be proposed afterwards.

The conference between the ambassador and Chancellor Stresemann will be continued.

Any proposal received from Chancellor Stresemann will be communicated immediately to France and the other allies.

Paris, Sept. 11.—While it is semi-officially declared that the conversations are regarded hopefully by the French government, it is added that they should not be taken too seriously until the Berlin government submits proposals.

Many such proposals will be examined in a conciliatory spirit.

Chancellor Stresemann is thought in political circles to be engaged in a diplomatic endeavor to learn the maximum concessions obtainable from the French.

The appointment of a German ambassador to Paris is expected soon as a step to hasten better understanding.

The French public and press received news of the conference with a view of the many disappointments suffered since 1919 in attempts of reparations solutions.

FIXED CODE REQUIRED FOR SETTLEMENT

Coal Commission Suggests
This in Report to President

ONE YARDSTICK

If Industrial Peace Is Hoped For Some Method Must Be Found

Washington, Sept. 10.—Comparing the controversy in the coal situation to that over slavery just prior to the Civil war, the United States Coal Commission declared in a report submitted to President Coolidge today that the national interest required establishment of a fixed code for settlement of this and other industrial disputes.

Regardless of the inherent rights possessed by both sides, the Commission held, the necessity of coal to the general public makes it incumbent upon both operators and workers "to make some personal sacrifices in the interest of the commonwealth."

The outbreak at Herrin, Ill., in June, 1922 and the more recent disturbance in the West Virginia fields were cited as indicative of the serious aspect the general situation has taken. The Commission reviewed the history of both cases in detail but declined to fix responsibility further than to say the serious results might be attributed to the intense passions which had been gradually fostered among the members of the two opposing camps, and to the attitude of the communities involved toward law and order.

"If industrial peace is to be hoped for," the Commission said, "then some method must be found to guarantee, as near as fallible human judgment may, equally exact justice to capital, to labor and to the public. There must be one yardstick adopted by which all controverted questions are to be measured. Public interest demands that certain fixed principles shall be recognized by both capital and labor as this yardstick."

Declaring it would be better for the participants themselves to work out the exact terms of the framework, the Commission set forth as the framework, the following principles:

1. No contract is of any valid binding force in America which has not been freely and voluntarily entered into.

2. The right of a man to work when, where, for whom and under what conditions and at what wage he chooses, so long as he does not seek his individual right, must never be interfered with and the State must furnish him protection and peace while he exercises this right.

3. In a free government men have a right to combine themselves together into organizations for collective bargaining with reference to wages and conditions under which they will work; they must exercise this right without force and intimidation, and must not interfere with the right of the man who chooses to dispose of his time individually.

4. Society has a right to fix a limitation beyond which it will not permit these de facto or de jure organizations to go.

5. There is an implied duty upon corporations to pay the humblest of its employees who is able-bodied, willing and competent, and who gives an honest day's work, sufficient wage to enable that person and his family to live in accordance with the standards of American life, and to pay in addition thereto for skill and experience.

6. The general public has a right to demand of its government that it shall not freeze in the midst of an abundance of coal. Unless capital and labor adopt methods that will furnish to the public coal when needed, an outraged public sentiment will furnish the supply by either the army or the penitentiary.

When contracts have been voluntarily entered into "the industry itself should provide boards of arbitration, both local and appellate, to speedily dispose of causes in accordance with the terms of the contract and the principles herein set out."

While the report dealt with the coal industry generally, the commission gave particular attention to the present situation of the industrial friction which has operated to stop the machinery of production, and frequently resulted in violence and bloodshed, the Commission ascribed to the following basic causes:

Disputes as to what are popularly known as the civil rights of American citizens.

Practical breach of these rights in the industry, even when theoretically acknowledged.

Inappropriate application to present conditions of principles enunciated under totally different economic conditions.

Attitude of public opinion produced by ancient grievances.

Lax administration of the law induced through fear, affection, malice, hatred, or ill-will.

Even though lawful interference of strangers in local conditions.

The effect of universal suffrage upon local administration.

There is an intellectual dispute, "touching the exact proportion of the right of a man to open shop, one of the right of workers organizing for the purpose of collective bargaining."

The Commission does not find, notwithstanding many unfortunate occurrences, unwise acts and unwise statements that it is or has been the ultimate object of the United Mine Workers of America to unionize all the mines at force if necessary. Upon the one hand, it does not find, regardless of unfortunate statements and unwise conduct, that it is the fixed purpose of non-union operators to destroy the United Mine Workers. The Commission chooses rather to give those who are, from the moral standpoint, whatever it may be from the legal standpoint,

PROMINENT AMERICANS

Mrs. Rupert Hughes, wife of the author, is reported among the missing following the Japanese disaster of quake and tide.

Rev. Norman S. Binstead, of St. David's Chapel, Washington, D. C., was in Japan at the time of quake. No word has been received from him.

Miss Myrtle King, of Washington, D. C., is one of many Americans in Japan from whom no message has come since the visit of the quake.

Judge Charles S. Lehniger, of the United States Court for China, is believed to have been in Yokohama at the time of the earthquake.

charged with violation of the law, the benefit of the doubt as to criminal intent."

Analysis of any single unlawful act, with a view to fixing responsibility would not serve, the Commission said, to give any justification "save as such justification could be found in the common and ordinary passion of mankind, for the other side to have met force with force, to have fought fire with fire."

The disorders at Herrin were cited as a case in point. Without attempting to fix responsibility, the Commission found the fatal outbreak at the plant of the Southern Illinois Coal Company to have been fostered by the severe state of local public opinion which had developed into a "chaos of hatred."

The local view of the incident, the report continued, was "well stated in the opinion of the coroner's jury," which that the 26 deaths resulted from the act "direct and indirect, of officials of the Southern Illinois Coal Company."

"Neither the sheriff nor any of his deputies interfered or even visited the scene," the commission said.

"The police officers of Herrin ignored the march through one of the paved streets of the city of six prisoners and their execution at the cemetery, although all the rest of the population knew about it and many followed and witnessed the tragedy."

"These homicides took place in the presence of innumerable witnesses. It cannot be true that the persons, or many of them, engaged in the mob are not known to citizens of that county. Yet there has been no conviction for this breach of the criminal law, nor is there the remotest possibility there ever will be one."

Regardless of Supreme Court decisions, the validity of the so-called "yellow dog" contracts, which prohibit a miner in some open shop plants from joining a union, the Commission declared their elimination from practices in the industry.

"And finally, if neither the patriotism, private conscience, nor business common-sense of the industry shall lead all persons engaged in it not only to observe the law but to help enforce the law; and if State and local authorities shall be impotent in prosecuting and convicting violations thereof, then it is the solemn duty of the Congress of the United States to assume jurisdiction over these American rights, bringing the full power of the Union to their preservation by the prosecution and conviction of all persons, whether high or low, who shall dare to violate them."

"The Legislative, Judicial and Executive branches of this Government must not permit a Union of Operators, a Union of Miners, nor a Union of both to become greater than the Union of the States."

Attitude of public opinion produced by ancient grievances.

Lax administration of the law induced through fear, affection, malice, hatred, or ill-will.

Even though lawful interference of strangers in local conditions.

The effect of universal suffrage upon local administration.

There is an intellectual dispute, "touching the exact proportion of the right of a man to open shop, one of the right of workers organizing for the purpose of collective bargaining."

The Commission does not find, notwithstanding many unfortunate occurrences, unwise acts and unwise statements that it is or has been the ultimate object of the United Mine Workers of America to unionize all the mines at force if necessary. Upon the one hand, it does not find, regardless of unfortunate statements and unwise conduct, that it is the fixed purpose of non-union operators to destroy the United Mine Workers. COOLIDGE WAS GOOD SPEAKER AS STUDENT

Amherst Class Remembers Him For His Oratorical Ability

NOT FOR POLITICS

Declare That He Has Characteristics Like Abraham Lincoln

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 10.—President Calvin Coolidge, referred to as "C. C.," was always worth hearing when in college, according to a biographical sketch in the annual published in connection with the twenty-fifth reunion of the class of '95 at New York in 1920, a copy of which is owned here by Nelson Kingsland, newspaperman and classmate of the new president.

The book contains the following sketch on Coolidge:

"Other folks may think Calvin Coolidge is famous because he has been a 'talker' of the city council of Northampton, clerk of the courts of Hampshire county, member of Massachusetts senate, lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts.

"We of '95 know that he is famous just because he is Calvin Coolidge. That is why we used to listen so eagerly to him when he was in college, and why we made him Grover-Orator in senior year. Whether on the Hyde Fifteen or at a boarding house table, or anywhere else, when 'C. C.' spoke he always said something worth hearing. In senior year he won the medal offered by the Sons of the Revolution for the best essay on the 'Principles of the War for American Independence,' competing with undergraduates in all American colleges.

"Coolidge has made a great number of brilliant epigrammatical speeches, in which are heard the echo of the hills and classrooms of Amherst. The best of these remarkable addresses are published under the title of 'Have Faith in Massachusetts.'"

"He is a member of the Union and University Clubs of Boston. 'The fact that he has risen high in public office and that he was at the 1920 convention demanded by many for the position of president of the United States, does not rest at all upon his speaking ability. For he does not seek office, offices seek him. His courage in mastering the police strike in Boston is only a part of his rocklike integrity of character that we all recognized when he was in Amherst twenty-five years ago.'

"We in '95 do not honor him for his high office; we honor him just as all people do—because he is Calvin Coolidge. Like Abraham Lincoln, a unique personality, a real man in an age when the world needs real men."

Georgia College Would Dig up Remains of General Ogilthorpe

London, Sept. 10.—An American institute of learning, Georgia University, has petitioned the ecclesiastical authorities for permission to do some digging in the Cranham Church, near Upminster, Essex, to find out if the remains of General Ogilthorpe are there. If the body is found, the university will ask further permission to ship it across the Atlantic and place it in a shrine at the institution.

There is no doubt he was buried in the church. There is a tablet to his memory on which it is recorded that he was born in 1805 and died in 1785. An account is given also of his achievements. In June, 1785, with twenty associates, the General obtained a charter for the settlement of the Georgia Colony from George II.

Heringsdorf, Germany, Sept. 10.—Word hordes of Mosquitoes on one hand and grasping landlords on the other, visitors to the Baltic coast are not having a happy time this summer. Rates for room and board are going up every 24 hours, and the summer colonies all along the shore, from Memel to Kiel, are on the verge of mutiny.

But their situation seems hopeless. If they go away in disgust, the hot weather sends plenty of others to fill their places. Rail-way rates have been raised repeatedly, but even so the travel is unusually heavy.

URGE EXAMINATIONS

Drivers Would Have to Reach Certain Requirements

Chicago, Sept. 10.—An intelligence test for the man or woman who drives a motor car is a possibility within the next two or three years.

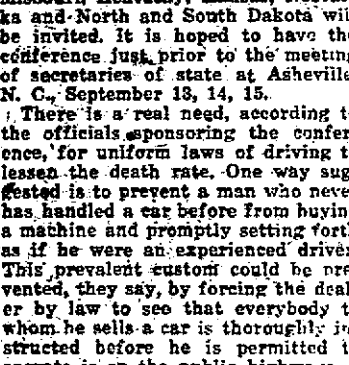

Representatives of 13 middle west states are to be invited to attend the Conference of Motor Vehicle Administrators, representing state automobile licensing bureaus, to be held here early in September, at which plans will be made for work-out safety-first laws for automobilists and pedestrians. The movement is being fostered by the National Safety Council. The convention is to be called by Fred M. Rosselard, chief of the public safety division of the National Safety Council.

"The man who drives a car for somebody else must pass an examination," said Walter W. Miller, chief clerk of the automobile division of the Illinois Department of State. "But anybody can drive an automobile if he owns it, whether he has ordinary horse sense or not."

"The accidents do not happen to licensed chauffeurs. They happen to the unskilled drivers. The conference will make plans for uniform laws to govern the licensing of automobile operators to see if they are sufficiently competent mentally to handle a motor driven vehicle. Some form of intelligence test is likely to be devised."

Representatives of the state departments of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Kentucky, Kansas, Nebraska and North and South Dakota will be invited. It is hoped to have the conference just prior to the meeting of secretaries of state at Asheville, N. C., September 13, 14, 15.

There is a real need, according to the officials sponsoring the conference, for uniform laws of driving to lessen the death rate. One way suggested is to prevent a man who never has handled a car before from buying a machine and promptly setting forth as if he were an experienced driver. This prevalent custom could be prevented, they say, by forcing the dealer by law to see that everybody to whom he sells a car is thoroughly instructed before he is permitted to operate it on the public highways.

OPPOSED TO LEGALIZED IRISH ARMY

Both Labor and Conservative Members of the Dail Are Criticizing It

Dublin, Sept. 10.—A bill to legalize the Irish National Army, which hitherto has operated without legislative authority, has just been framed and is the subject of much criticism from both Labor and Conservative members in the Dail. The measure constitutes an army code similar to the King's regulations for the British army, and would be effective only for one year. At the end of that time, the bill provides, the army question may be reconsidered.

Labor leaders oppose the measure because of the distinction between officers and men, while the Conservatives urge that it be modeled more closely after British Dominion army legislation. Other critics object to the present method of combining the offices of Minister for Defence and Commander-in-Chief, and have started agitation to have the Defence Ministry made a separate and civilian office.

If the measure, which is known as the "Defence Forces Bill" passes, it will give the army a legal status for the first time. To date, the 50,000 men comprising the national forces have served on an emergency basis. The bill is elaborate, comprising 245 clauses, and providing for the establishment of an Irish Military College for officers, for the creation of an Army reserve, and making the designations of military rank.

All soldiers will be required under the measure to take an oath, pledging "true faith and allegiance to our country."

The present strength of the army has caused much discussion, as it is in excess of the proportion with the British army, agreed to in the treaty. Answering the critics, General Mulcahy announced recently that by next March he expects to reduce the total of armed forces to 30,000.

N. D. RED CROSS RAISES MOST OF ITS QUOTA

Total of $14,500 of the $20,000 Quota Has Already Been Raised

Red Cross Workers Expect State to go Over the Top By Night

"Approximately two-thirds of the North Dakota's quota for relief to victims of the Japanese disaster had already been raised early this morning through the American Red Cross after a campaign of less than four days," declared A. L. Schafer, director of the Central Division of the American Red Cross who has been directing the campaign for the state from here for the past few days. A total of $14,500 of the $20,000 quota set for the state by the Red Cross has been sent in.

"We expect North Dakota to go over the top before evening," said Mr. Schafer and his co-workers who have been engaged in the work of raising the funds for the relief of the stricken in Japan since Friday when a telegram was received at headquarters in Chicago announcing the Red Cross plan.

Twenty-seven counties including Barnes, Billings, Burleigh, Cavalier, Deuel, Grant, Kidder, McIntosh, Mercer, Moorhead, Richland, Sargent, Divide, Dunn, Emmons, Foster, Griggs, La Moure, Pembina, Ramsey, Ransom, Rolette, Stark, Steele, Stutsman, Traill, Wells, and Bowman and sent in their quotas complete by Monday afternoon. Burleigh county's quota was pledged and check sent in advance of public appeal.

"We will probably hear from the remaining counties before evening," said Mr. Schafer. "I am proud of the response that has been made," asserted Mr. Schafer. "It is really wonderful to think that almost $20,000 has been raised within four days after an appeal had been made to the people of North Dakota."

Of the $800,000 quota for the Central Division states, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana, $622,000 had been subscribed.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross and Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, stressed the pressing need for raising funds this week in a telegram to division headquarters.

The Bismarck quota is gradually growing while none of the surrounding towns have yet been heard from because of the delays of waiting for mail service.

Those who have sent in contributions up to the present time include the following:

Dr. L. A. Schipper, Geo. D. Mann, Storch's Studio, Gov. Nestes, Grand Pacific Hotel; Hilda C. Roe, Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith, John Larson, J. L. Bell, Isabel Campbell, and Herman Scheffer.

SEVEN SHIPS TO BE JUNKED UNDER TREATY

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—Seven war vessels at the Philadelphia Navy yard are to be scrapped under the provisions of the treaty for the limitation of armaments, recently approved. They include two cruisers and five battleships.

The cruisers are the Constitution and the United States, which had been under construction at the navy yard for some time. They are to be scrapped at once, acetylene torches being used to cut them to pieces. A little later workmen will start on the five battleships consigned to the international junk heap. Four of them, the Minnesota, South Carolina, Michigan and New Hampshire, are out of commission and have been lying in the storage basin at the navy yard for months. The fifth, the South Carolina, will have a fitting end to a long career, for she will be taken to sea and sunk in tests of various deck and under-water attacking methods lately devised by the Navy Department engineers.

An eighth battleship, the Washington, which was under construction at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation's yards in Camden, N. J., also will be shattered by the gunfire and torpedo attack of the Atlantic fleet.

HOUSES MOVED OVER RIVER MOUNTED ON BARGES

In making room for a new state capital, 18 houses were moved across the Kanawha River at Charleston, West Virginia. Faced with the alternative of wrecking their homes and rebuilding elsewhere, or of transporting them to sites on the opposite side of the river, the owners chose the latter. Lashed securely to heavy timber frames, 40 feet high, to avoid the necessity of lifting them up an embankment, the dwellings, some of which were large, two-story structures, were safely carried on great barges and finally set down on their new locations.

Sow Hawaiian Fig Groves From Airplanes

Sowing seeds is one of the latest services that United States army fliers have been asked to perform. When the Department of Agriculture recently wished to plant a number of barren areas in Hawaii, with fig trees, it was found the project would require months of hard work in places that were almost inaccessible. Two planes with four airmen were assigned the task and planted the grounds in less than three hours.

Find Rare Stamp in Italy

One of the rarest of early United States stamps recently was discovered in Italy where it has been hidden for more than 75 years. It is valued at $7,500. Made in Baltimore in 1845, when James M. Buchanan was postmaster, it preceded government issues of 5 and 10-cent stamps. So far as known, there are only six specimens of this issue in existence, and at a Paris sale last year one of these stamps was bought for $6,000 by an American. The stamp found in Italy is said to be distinguished from all other known copies because it shows all of the four outside border lines.

Lubricating Tight Windows

A better method than planing down the guide strips to make tight-fitting windows open and close easily, is to use a suitable lubricant on the guides. An excellent solution for the purpose is a mixture of paraffin and turpentine. Dissolve as much paraffin in turpentine as possible, by shaving the paraffin and allowing the mixture to stand for a few days. Apply the solution liberally to the window guides with a brush, going over them two or three times. The turpentine will evaporate and leave a colorless film of paraffin on the guides. After this treatment the windows will slide freely, regardless of weather conditions.

CHEMISTS WILL GIVE PROGRESS OF BAKING

Will Show How Waste Has Been Eliminated in the Various Processes

TO TALK AT MEETING

Will Also Discuss Progress in Leather and Rubber Industries

New York, Sept. 11.—Revolutionary processes in the scientific baking of bread, drastic reform in the teaching of chemistry in the nation's high schools, elimination of waste in the manufacture of paper, and disposal of the sewage of the cities will, it is announced here, be discussed at a national meeting of the American Chemical Society to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., which began Monday, September 10.

Problems of American agriculture and of the leather and rubber industries also will come up. The meeting, which will be attended by chemists from all over the United States and from foreign countries, will, according to officials of the society, herald amazing post-war advances in chemical science.

Featuring the convention will be two joint forums by the agricultural and food divisions of the society. One, with the industrial division, will be devoted to bread, under the chairmanship of Dr. H. E. Barnard of Minneapolis. The other will be the fertilizer division will discuss fertilizers and crops, the chairman being H. A. Noyes of Westfield, N. Y.

Recent developments, involving animal experiments and marking what is described as a great advance in the science of bread making, will be publicly announced at the bread symposium. These developments, it was stated, will be of vital economic interest, as this year 60,000,000 barrels of flour are being turned into bread. Baking science has developed faster in the last ten years than in all the previous years of man. Only a few decades ago, according to Dr. Barnard, bread was made in practical

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD SEVEN DAY MEETING

Meeting of Three Branches of the Organization to be Held in Cincinnati

THOUSANDS EXPECTED

Private Homes to be Thrown Open to Accommodate the Delegates of the World

Cincinnati, Sept. 11.—Thousands of visitors and delegates are expected here during the week of September 17 in connection with the triple convention of the various branches of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the General Military Council, and the Association of Rebekah Assemblies of the World. Cincinnati lodges are raising a fund of $50,000 for the purpose of entertainment.

Detroit Odd Fellows have made hotel reservations for 1,100, and more than 1,000 are coming from St. Paul and Minneapolis. Toronto members have reserved accommodations for 600, and orders for reservations have been coming in from all parts of Canada and the United States for blocks of from 50 to 500. Thousands of Cincinnatians will throw open their homes to accommodate those who cannot be taken care of at the hotels. Prize offers aggregating $15,000 for degree competition and drills have tended to induce entire lodges to come here for the convention, many of them arranging to bring their own bands. These may reach a total of 30. With approximately 20 local bands, the visiting organizations will take part in the grand parade on Wednesday, September 19. The 14th Regiment Band, a world war organization, has been engaged as the official musical organization for the convention.

The program includes addresses by a number of prominent persons. A dinner tendered by the local committee to the I. O. O. F. International Press Association will be a feature on the opening day. There also will be a public reception to Lucian J. Eastin of St. Joseph, Mo., Grand Sire, and other officers and representatives of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Mr. Eastin has recently returned from Europe, where he studied the condition of European Odd Fellowship, which is under the jurisdiction of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and will make a report to the convention. Newsboys, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are being organized as an army to help the visitors to find their way about the city.

MANY HUNTERS ARE GETTING LICENSES

Over Three Hundred Licenses Issued with Expectation of Many More

PROSPECTS GOOD

Bag Limit Is Five Chickens, Eight Geese and Fifteen Ducks

Over three hundred hunting licenses have been issued although it is still four days from the opening day of the hunting season according to figures given out by the county auditor's office today. Three hundred and seventeen licenses had been issued up to today and many more were expected to be issued before the opening of the season on Sunday. At this date last year approximately the same number of licenses had been issued and on the first day of the season over seven hundred licenses had been taken out.

While the law specifically states that there is to be no hunting between the hours of sunset and sunrise many local hunters expect to leave late Saturday night so as to reach their prospective hunting grounds in time to get the early morning light shooting on Sunday morning.

Bismarck hunters who have been out looking over the shooting grounds state that there is an abundance of large northern ducks on the lakes and creeks in the immediate neighborhood of Bismarck while prairie chickens abound in the open fields and in the corn fields.

The law gives as the bag limit for ducks and chickens the following: "No person shall in anyone day take, catch, kill or destroy to exceed five pointed grouse (prairie chicken), sharp-tailed grouse, (white breasted) grouse, turtle dove, plover, or any variety of five of the same combined or have in possession at any one time, to exceed ten of each combined, nor more than eight each wild geese of any variety, fifteen each of wild ducks of any variety, quail, widgeon or snipe of any variety, or of the same combined; or have in possession at any one time to exceed the limit of two days bag of each or all of the same combined."

The penalty for violation of the bag limit consists of a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars for each bird nor more than fifty dollars for each bird or not less than twenty days imprisonment in the county jail nor more than thirty days imprisonment, or both.

many of our farmers are in dire financial distress by reason of that quick and loyal response to their country's call in the time of great need. Over production is the hurtful condition today. Practically all of the middle west states heard that call from Washington and enlarged very materially their wheat acreage. They, however, being all highly diversified farming states could adjust themselves quickly from a state of war to a state of peace. Illinois and Iowa promptly got their line trench, corn, hogs and beef stock, and did so without a ripple. Wisconsin and Minnesota could just as easily take to cover and bob up serenely with their strongly entrenched position, cream, butter, cheese, poultry and eggs. Not so North Dakota. We had no safe abiding place from an agricultural standpoint before the war and naturally no safe sure retreat when it closed. All our allies except Russia had a big surplus on hand and this country had plenty and to spare stored in the great terminal elevators of the country. The direct and unfortunate result was that all our farmers could do was to stand out in the open amid their wide flung drought stricken wheat fields while the inevitable law of supply and demand played its relentless logic upon them and their once more defeated hopes and aspirations. It is an old, very old story that every middle west state has experienced in its agricultural life and development from Ohio to North Dakota's eastern boundary line, the Red River of the North.

Price-fixing Won't Help. Mr. Devine said he would remedy price fixing if it would remedy conditions.

"North Dakota will weather the storm as she has all other storms," he said. "It is to be regretted that so much adverse and misleading advertising has gone out from North Dakota to be spread broadcast in the by-ways and business parts of the country. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with North Dakota, in soil, climate, progress, or the great heart of the people who live in it. With 420,000 milk cows now in the state and that number increasing rapidly in every county, with a million acres of corn now ripening for the harvest and that means not less than 30,000,000 bushels of corn that will equal both in the number of bushels per acre and in quality, the best that Illinois or Iowa can produce is in every way encouraging and a sure practical sign that we are on the way."

REPORT OF R. R. SURVEY TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Results of Investigation by Director of Research of National Institute

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Definite findings in a survey of what the states are the three most pressing railway questions before the public will be ready to be presented to the people before the time of the presidential conventions next summer, it was announced today by Dr. David Friday, former president of Michigan Agricultural college, director of the research council of the National Transportation Institute.

Dr. Friday declared that government ownership, "watered stock," and freight rates are urgent problems on which the public must be enabled to form decisions within the next nine months. Congress will attack vital railway legislation this winter, he asserted, while government ownership, he believes, is likely to be an issue in the presidential campaign of 1924.

"These railroad questions have been divided by the research council into seven subjects of research," Dr. Friday stated. "Upon them the public is altogether unprepared to judge. It is of the highest importance that a survey, not connected with political agitation, be made in time to provide reliable data for our future railroad program."

The seven subjects for research are: Study of railway rates with reference to amount invested in roads; effects of transportation costs on prices, especially of farm products; distribution of freight rates on the geographical distribution of industry; relative efficiency of private and government owned roads; relation of investment in railroad securities to value of properties; study and review of Interstate Commerce Commission valuation of roads.

"Freight rates and the growth of transportation costs as compared with the general price level are pressing problems," Dr. Friday declared. "The public has a complex problem on the whole subject of watered stock. The amounts involved will be definitely determined and set forth in dollars and cents. The Institute will attempt to substitute a clear understanding for a blind prejudice which now exists on a little understood subject."

"As there probably will be no legislative proposals to exclude increase in land values from the Interstate Commerce Commission valuation of railroads, it is probable that the council determine what amounts were included for land donated to the roads; for lands purchased by the roads; and the original cost of those purchased lands. The public then could compare the amounts involved with the increases in value of farm lands and city real estate."

"In addition to these tremendous problems it is my opinion that the country will in the near future be called upon to decide whether our railroads shall continue under private ownership and management or whether we shall have government ownership and operation. It seems not unlikely at this time that the political campaign of 1924 will be fought largely upon this issue."

Garland W. Powell Says Understanding of Constitution Defeats Bolshevism

WOULD BE OBSOLETE

Urges Observance of Constitution Week, Sept. 17 to 22, by American Legion

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—Revolutionary radicalism, bolshevism, "I. W. W. ism" and similar movements, would become almost obsolete, if the people of the United States really understood the constitution, Garland W. Powell, director of the Americanism commission of the American Legion, declared in a recent bulletin to workers in his organization. Powell's statement was embodied in a request he made to legion posts to join in observance of Constitution Anniversary Week, Sept. 17 to 22, in conjunction with other organizations.

"The constitution inspires to the people of our nation, those inalienable rights, life, liberty and pursuit of happiness," says Powell's statement. "No country since the beginning of time has held these ideals higher than the people of the United States, yet very few Americans know what the constitution contains," the bulletin continues.

"It is the duty of every American citizen, as well as those who hope to become citizens, to know and fully understand the constitution of the United States of America. People cannot be law abiding citizens or stand for law and order when they do not know the fundamental principles upon which the laws of their land are based. We can only be a uniform nation by understanding the rights guaranteed to citizens under the constitution."

Powell seeks to have leaders of Americanism work in the legion cooperate to the fullest extent with all agencies observing the constitution's anniversary, and to further coordinate the legion's efforts in teaching and explaining the instrument.

SAY ITALY WILL REFUSE JUGO PROPOSAL

Italians to Use Force if Settlement Is Not Made Sept. 15

Rome, Sept. 11.—Best informed opinion here is that Italy will refuse any mediation of the settlement of the Fiume question with Jugoslavia as proposed by the latter. Italy, it is declared, intends to settle with Jugoslavia in line with the demands for a settlement settling national interest, though the legion head has refused to comment on what he found there, until he returns to America. The presence of the legion official at the congress of veterans in Brussels is expected to have a favorable influence on the passage of the American agenda.

The problem of disabled veterans already has received attention of the delegates. It is proposed that uniform indemnities be paid in each country for disabled veterans, and that such men be provided transportation cards which make travel possible at the same rate in each member nation. Affiliation of the veterans' federation with the League of Nations labor bureau is also anticipated, possible participation as a member of the League of Nations having been definitely abandoned.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—The proposed of an international air disarmament conference will be one of the principal issues discussed at the American Legion national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, it is believed by national officers of that organization in Indianapolis.

Within the last few weeks the proposed meeting in Washington to halt the international race for military air superiority has been discussed at a number of state conventions of the legion and resolutions have been adopted recommending that the national convention authorize a vigorous campaign in behalf of the conference, if President Coolidge has not announced his decision to hold it before the national convention dates, October 15-19. This movement was sponsored at the recent convention of the Pennsylvania department of the legion by Franklin D'Olier, past national commander, who has written, as follows:

"I thoroughly believe in the limitation of the system of competitive armament which has for the past generation laid an increased burden upon the taxpayers and which has tended to increase the danger of war, but I doubt whether an international conference on the subject of air armament would be successful in the immediate future."

"The limitation of navy armament agreed to at the Washington conference was made practicable in part by the changes developed in the art of war as a result of the experience of the world war. It was very apparent that the nations which came

have expressed approval of the gathering, five qualified approval, ten were undecided and only seventeen were against the proposal. The poll was answered by twenty-one United States senators, seventy-six representatives, fourteen governors, 158 newspaper editors, thirty-five college presidents and thirty-one private individuals, including a number of authorities on international questions.

While the preponderance of opinion is in favor of the conference, it is believed there will be enough legationnaires on the other side of the fence to make an interesting argument at the national convention. Among them is Governor James Scrugham, of Nevada a former national vice commander, who has written, as follows:

U. S. WAR VETS WILL SUPPORT WORLD COURT

UNIFORM BONUS

National Commander Directing American Legion Participation in Person at Convention

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—A program urging support of allied world war veterans for an international court of justice and other points, has been presented to the council of the Interallied Veterans' Federation by the American delegation, according to information received at national headquarters of the American Legion, the member body of the federation in America.

The points which the Americans will advocate are:

1. Support of the plan for an international court of justice, the recommendation bearing no provision of physical power for the co-ordinating governments, but possibly favoring an international police force, as does the French proposal.

2. Codification of international law.

3. Education for a certain number of youths of member nations in America, with similar privileges for an equal number from the United States, awarded on plans similar to the Rhodes scholarship.

National Commander Alvin Owsley of the Legion, though taking no part on the floor of the convention, is directing American participation in person. The recent visit of the legion and his American delegation into the Ruhr was noted as of international interest, though the legion head has refused to comment on what he found there, until he returns to America. The presence of the legion official at the congress of veterans in Brussels is expected to have a favorable influence on the passage of the American agenda.

MANY HUNTERS ARE GETTING LICENSES

Over Three Hundred Licenses Issued with Expectation of Many More

PROSPECTS GOOD

Bag Limit Is Five Chickens, Eight Geese and Fifteen Ducks

Over three hundred hunting licenses have been issued although it is still four days from the opening day of the hunting season according to figures given out by the county auditor's office today. Three hundred and seventeen licenses had been issued up to today and many more were expected to be issued before the opening of the season on Sunday. At this date last year approximately the same number of licenses had been issued and on the first day of the season over seven hundred licenses had been taken out.

While the law specifically states that there is to be no hunting between the hours of sunset and sun up many local hunters expect to leave Saturday night so as to reach their prospective hunting grounds in time to get the early morning flight shooting on Sunday morning.

Bismarck ninards who have been out looking over the shooting grounds state that there is an abundance of large northern ducks on the lakes and creeks in the immediate neighborhood of Bismarck while prairie chickens abound in the open fields and in the corn lands.

The law gives as the bag limit for ducks and chickens the following: "No person shall in anyone day take, catch, kill or destroy to exceed five pinnated grouse (prairie chicken), sharp-tailed grouse, (white breasted) grouse, turtle dove, quail, or any variety of five of the same combined or have in possession at any one time, to exceed ten of each combined, nor more than eight each wild geese of any variety, fifteen each of wild ducks of any variety, quail, woodcock or snipe of any variety, or of the same combined; or have in possession at any one time to exceed the limit of two days bag of each or all of the same combined."

The penalty for violation of the bag limit consists of a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars for each bird nor more than fifty dollars for each bird or not less than twenty days imprisonment in the county jail nor more than thirty days imprisonment, or both.

(Continued from Page One.) many of our farmers and in dire financial distress by reason of that quick and loyal response to their country's call in the time of great need. Over production was the result then and over production is the hurtful condition today. Practically all of the middle states heard the call from Washington and enlarged very materially their wheat acreage. They, however, being all highly diversified farming states could adjust themselves quickly from a state of war to a state of peace. Illinois and Iowa promptly got in under and moved to their first line trench, corn, hogs and beef stock, and did so without a ripple. Wisconsin and Minnesota could just as easily take to cover and bob up serenely with their strongly entrenched position, cream, butter, cheese, poultry and eggs. Not so North Dakota. We have no safe abiding place from an agricultural standpoint before the war and naturally no safe sure retreat when it closed. All our allies except Russia had a big surplus on hand and this country had plenty and to spare stored in the great terminal elevators of the country. The direct and unfortunate result was that all our farmers could do was to stand out in the open amid their wide flung drought stricken wheat fields while the inevitable law of supply and demand played its relentless logic upon them and their once more defeated hopes and aspirations. It is an old, very old story that every mid-western state has experienced in its agricultural life and development from Ohio to North Dakota's eastern boundary line, the Red River of the North.

Price-fixing Won't Help Mr. Devine said he would welcome price fixing if it would remedy conditions.

Princess Anastasia, formerly Mrs. William Leeds, widow of the American tinplate magnate who married Prince Christopher of Greece in 1920, died at her London home recently. "North Dakota will weather the storm as she has all other storms," he said. "It is to be regretted that so much adverse and misleading advertising has gone out from North Dakota to be spread broadcast in the by-ways and business parts of the country. There is nothing fundamentally wrong with North Dakota, in soil, climate, progress, or the great heart of the people who live in it. With 420,000 milk cows now in the state and that number increasing rapidly in every county, with a million acres of corn now ripening for the harvest and that means not less than 30,000,000 bushels of corn that will equal both in the number of bushels per acre and in quality, the best that Illinois or Iowa can produce is in every way encouraging and a sure practical sign that we are on the way."

REPORT OF R. R. SURVEY TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Results of Investigation by Director of Research of National Institute

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Definite findings in a survey of what he states are the three most pressing railway questions before the public will be ready to be presented to the people before the time of the presidential elections next summer, it was announced today by Dr. David Friday, former president of Michigan Agricultural college, director of the research council of the National Transportation Institute.

Dr. Friday declared that government ownership, railway valuation and "watered stock" and freight rates are urgent problems on which the public must be enabled to form decisions within the next nine months. Congress will attack vital railway legislation this winter, he asserted, while government ownership, he believes, is likely to be an issue in the presidential campaign of 1924.

"These railroad questions have been divided by the research council into seven subjects of research," Dr. Friday stated. "Upon them the public is altogether unprepared to judge. It is of the highest importance that a survey, not connected with political agitation, be made in time to provide reliable data for our future railroad program."

The seven subjects for research are: Study of railway rates with reference to amount invested in roads; effects of transportation costs on prices, especially of farm products; distribution of freight rates on the geographical distribution of industry; relative efficiency of private and government owned roads; relation of investment in railroad securities to value of properties; study and review of Interstate Commerce Commission valuation of roads.

"Freight rates and the growth of transportation costs as compared with the general price level are pressing problems," Dr. Friday declared. "The public has a complex problem on the whole subject of watered stock. The amounts involved will be definitely determined and set forth in dollars and cents. The Institute will attempt to substitute a clear understanding for a blind prejudice which now exists on a little understood subject."

"As there probably will be no legislative proposals to exclude increase in land values from the Interstate Commerce Commission valuation of railroads, we propose that the council determine what amounts were included for land donated to the roads, for lands purchased by the roads, and the original cost of those purchased lands. The public then could compare the amounts involved with the increases in value of farm lands and city real estate."

"In addition to these tremendous problems it is my opinion that the country will in the near future be called upon to decide whether our railroads shall continue under private ownership and management or whether we shall have government ownership and operation. It seems not unlikely at this time that the political campaign of 1924 will be fought largely upon this issue."

SAY ITALY WILL REFUSE JUGO PROPOSAL

Italians to Use Force if Settlement Is Not Made Sept. 15

(By the Associated Press.) Rome, Sept. 11.—Best informed opinion here is that Italy will refuse any mediation of the settlement of the Fiume question with Jugo-Slavia as proposed by the latter. Italy, it is declared, intends to settle with Jugo-Slavia in line with the demands for a settlement setting Sept. 15 as the date for a reply even employing forceful means if necessary to end what she thinks is an intolerable situation.

HARDING STAMPS NOT TO BE SOLD HERE NOW

It is not expected that any of the new Harding stamps will be placed on sale in the Bismarck postoffice for some time, according to local postoffice officials. The new Harding stamps are of black with a clear impression of the bust of the late President Harding under which are the dates 1855 and 1923. These stamps will be supplied in place of the Washington stamps of a two cent denomination until such a time as the recent issue is entirely used up.

U. S. WAR VETS WILL SUPPORT WORLD COURT

UNIFORM BONUS

National Commander Directing American Legion Participation in Person at Convention

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—A program urging support of allied women war veterans for an international court of justice and other points, has been presented to the council of the Interallied Veterans' Federation by the American delegation, according to information received at national headquarters of the American Legion, the member body of the federation in America.

The points which the Americans will advocate are:

1. Support of the plan for an international court of justice, the recommendation bearing no provision of financial power for the co-ercing of governments, but possibly favoring an international police force, as does the French proposal.

2. Codification of international law.

3. Education for a certain number of youths of member nations in America, with similar privileges for an equal number from the United States, awarded on plans similar to the Rhodes scholarship.

National Commander Alvin Owsley of the Legion, though taking no part on the floor of the convention, is directing American participation in person. The recent visit of the legion and his American delegation into the Ruhr was noted as of international interest, though the legion head has refused to comment on what he found there, until he returns to America. The presence of the legion official at the congress of veterans in Brussels is expected to have a favorable influence on the passage of the American agenda.

The problem of disabled veterans already has received attention of the delegates. It is proposed that uniform indemnities be paid in each country for disabled veterans, and that such men be provided transportation cards which make travel possible at the same rate in each member nation. Affiliation of the veterans' federation with the League of Nations labor bureau is also anticipated, possible participation as a member of the League of Nations having been definitely abandoned.

Indianapolis, Sept. 11.—The proposal of an international air disarmament conference will be one of the principal issues discussed at the American Legion national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, it is believed by national officers of that organization in Indianapolis. Within the last few weeks the proposed meeting in Washington to halt the international race for military air superiority has been discussed at a number of state conventions of the legion and resolutions have been adopted recommending that the national convention authorize a vigorous campaign in behalf of the conference, if President Coolidge has not announced his decision to hold it before the national convention dates, October 15-19. This movement was sponsored at the recent convention of the Pennsylvania department of the legion by Franklin D'Olier, past national commander.

Public sentiment favors the proposed conference, according to Lemuel Bolles, legion national adjutant, who has announced the results of the first three weeks of a national poll the organization has undertaken. From a total of 335 replies received from United States senators, representatives, governors, newspaper editors, college presidents and other prominent citizens, 303 letters have expressed approval of the gathering, five qualified approval, ten were undecided and only seventeen were against the proposal. The poll was answered by twenty-one United States senators, seventy-six representatives, fourteen governors, 158 newspaper editors, thirty-five college presidents and thirty-one private individuals, including a number of authorities on international questions. While the preponderance of opinion is in favor of the conference, it is believed there will be enough legionnaires on the other side of the fence to make an interesting argument at the national convention. Among them is Governor James Scrugham, of Nevada a former national vice commander, who has written, as follows:

"I thoroughly believe in the limitation of the system of competitive armament which has for the past generation laid an increased burden upon the taxpayers and which has tended to increase the danger of war, but I doubt whether an international conference on the subject of air armament would be successful in the immediate future."

"The limitation of navy armament agreed to at the Washington conference was made practicable in part by the changes developed in the art of war as a result of the experience of the world war. It was very apparent that the nations which came to an agreement at the Washington conference were unwilling to extend their agreement to a limitation of armies, aircraft or submarines. In view of this historical fact, I would not be willing to advocate another conference in the immediate future."

N. D. RED CROSS RAISES MOST OF ITS QUOTA

Total of $14,500 of the $20,000 Quota Has Already Been Raised

Red Cross Workers Expect State to go Over the Top By Night

"Approximately two-thirds of the North Dakota quota for relief to victims of the Japanese disaster had already been raised early this morning through the American Red Cross after a campaign of less than four days," declared A. L. Schafer, director of the Central Division of the American Red Cross who has been directing the campaign for the state from here for the past few days. A total of $14,500 of the $20,000 quota set for the state by the Red Cross has been sent in.

"We expect North Dakota to go over the top before evening," said Mr. Schafer. "I am proud of the response that has been made," asserted Mr. Schafer. "It is really wonderful to think that almost $20,000 has been raised within four days after an appeal had been made to the people of North Dakota."

Of the $20,000 quota for the Central Division states, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Montana, $12,000 had been subscribed.

John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross and Secretary of State Herbert Hoover, stressed the pressing need for raising funds this week in a telegram to division headquarters.

The Bismarck quota is gradually growing while none of the surrounding towns have yet been heard from because of the delays of waiting for mail service.

Those who have sent in contributions up to the present time include the following:

SEVEN SHIPS TO BE JUNKED UNDER TREATY

Philadelphia, Sept. 11.—Seven war vessels at the Philadelphia Navy yard are to be scrapped under the provisions of the new treaty for the limitation of armaments, recently approved. They include two cruisers and five battleships.

The cruisers are the Constitution and the United States, which had been under construction at the navy yard for some time. They are to be scrapped at once, according to the treaty, and to cut them to pieces. A little later the navy will start on the five battleships consigned to the international junk heap. Four of them, the Minnesota, South Carolina, Michigan and New Hampshire, are out of commission and have been lying in the storage basin at the navy yard for months. The fifth, the South Carolina, will have a fitting end to a long career, for she will be taken to sea and sunk in tests of various deck and under-water attacking methods lately devised by the Navy Department engineers.

An eighth battleship, the Washington, which was under construction at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation's yards in Camden, N. J., also will be shattered by the gunfire and torpedo attack of the Atlantic fleet.

What the World Is Doing

AS SEEN BY POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

HOUSES MOVED OVER RIVER MOUNTED ON BARGES
In making room for a new state capital, 18 houses were moved across the Kanawha River at Charleston, West Virginia. Packed with the alternative of wrecking their homes and rebuilding somewhere else, or of transporting them to sites on the opposite side of the river, the owners chose the latter. Loaded securely to heavy timber frames, 40 feet high, to avoid the necessity of lifting them up an embankment, the dwellings, some of which were large, two-story structures, were carried on great barges and finally set down on their new locations.

Sow Hawaiian Fig Groves From Airplanes

Sowing seeds is one of the latest services that United States army fliers have been asked to perform. When the Department of Agriculture recently wished to plant a number of barren areas in Hawaii with fig trees, it was found the project would require months of hard work in places that were almost inaccessible. Two planes with four airmen were assigned the task and planted the grounds in less than three hours.

One of the rarest of early United States stamps recently was discovered in Italy where it has been hidden for more than 75 years. It is valued at $7,500. Made in Baltimore in 1845, when James M. Buchanan was postmaster, it preceded government issues of 5 and 10-cent stamps. So far as known, there are only six specimens of this issue in existence, and at a Paris sale last year one of these stamps was bought for $6,800 by an American. The stamp found in Italy is said to be distinguished from all other known copies because it shows all of the four outside border lines.

Lubricating Tight Windows

A better method than planing down the guide strips to make tight-fitting windows open and close easily, is to use a suitable lubricant on the guides. An excellent solution for the purpose is a mixture of paraffin and turpentine. Dissolve as much paraffin in turpentine as possible, by shaking the paraffin and allowing the mixture to stand for a few days. Apply the solution liberally to the window guides with a brush, going over them two or three times. The turpentine will evaporate and leave a colorless film of paraffin on the guides. After this treatment the windows will slide freely, regardless of weather conditions.

ODD FELLOWS TO HOLD SEVEN DAY MEETING

THOUSANDS EXPECTED

Private Homes to be Thrown Open to Accommodate the Delegates of the World

Cincinnati, Sept. 11.—Thousands of visitors and delegates are expected here during the week of September 17 in connection with the triple convention of the various branches of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the General Military Council, and the Association of Rebekah Assemblies of the World. Cincinnati lodges are raising a fund of $50,000 for the purpose of entertainment.

Detroit Odd Fellows have made hotel reservations for 1,100, and more than 1,000 are coming from St. Paul and Minneapolis. Toronto members have reserved accommodations for 600, and orders for reservations have been coming in from all parts of Canada and the United States for blocks of from 50 to 500. Thousands of Cincinnati will throw open their homes to accommodate those who cannot be taken care of at the hotels. Prize offers aggregating $15,000 for degree competition and drills have tended to induce entire lodges to come here for the convention, many of them arranging to bring their own bands. These may reach a total of 30. With approximately 20 local bands, the visiting organizations will take part in the grand parade on Wednesday, September 19. The 147th Regiment Band, a world war organization, has been engaged as the official musical organization for the convention.

The program includes addresses by a number of prominent persons. A dinner tendered by the local committee to the I. O. O. F.-International Press Association will be a feature on the opening day. There also will be a public reception to Lucian J. Eastin of St. Joseph, Mo., Grand Sir, and other officers and representatives of the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Mr. Eastin has recently returned from Europe, where he studied the condition of European Odd Fellowship, which is under the jurisdiction of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and will make a report to the convention. Newsboys, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are being organized as an army to help the visitors to find their way about the city.

CHEMISTS WILL GIVE PROGRESS OF BAKING

Will Show How Waste Has Been Eliminated in the Various Processes

Will Also Discuss Progress in Leather and Rubber Industries

New York, Sept. 11.—Revolutionary processes in the scientific baking of bread, drastic reform in the teaching of chemistry in the nation's high schools, elimination of waste in the manufacture of paper, and disposal of the sewage of the cities will, it is announced here, be discussed at a national meeting of the American Chemical Society to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., which began Monday, September 10.

Problems of American agriculture and of the leather and rubber industries also will come up. The meeting, which will be attended by chemists from all over the United States and from foreign countries, will, according to officials of the society, herald amazing post-war advances in chemical science.

Featuring the convention will be two joint forums by the agricultural and food divisions of the society. One, with the industrial division, will be devoted to bread, under the chairmanship of Dr. H. E. Barnard of Minneapolis. The other, with the fertilizer division will discuss fertilizers and crops, the chairman being H. A. Noyes of Westfield, N. Y.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

CONSTRUCTIVE PUBLICITY
J. M. Devine, state immigration commissioner, has a real message for the people of the nation in his address delivered Monday night at the Minneapolis broadcasting station. He sums up the advantage of this state from an agricultural standpoint and those who are eking out a mere existence as tenants on high priced land can read with profit what he has to say of the advantages of North Dakota.

A letter from the Minneapolis radio offices to Mr. Devine congratulates him upon his digest of the present economic situation declaring it to be one of the best and most unprejudiced that has been received at that station for broadcasting.

Mr. Devine shows that the price fixing expedients will avail little but that the only solution is in diversification and a more intelligent system of marketing. There are no demagogic assertions, no attempt to bait votes through advocacy of state or national subsidy, but an earnest plea for the farmer to organize his marketing and balance his crop output so he can control prices to the extent that obtains in other lines of industry.

This kind of publicity for the state should serve to focus attention upon the many advantages of this great middle west. It is also an earnest plea for diversification and if it will make the people think in other terms than that of wheat a great purpose has been served.

DRINKING DAYS

Drinking among passengers at sea has been steadily getting less and less, for the last 20 years. T. D. Smith makes this comment. He's chief steward of the White Star liner Adriatic, and he has been 35 years in the North Atlantic service.

The decline in drinking is a genuine prohibition movement, and not because liquor costs have gone up, Smith believes.

He says: "Efficiency in business—with telephones, wireless, radio, taxicabs, electrical devices and the general demand for more speed—has destroyed the old idea of doing business in the forenoon and devoting the rest of the day and night to drinking."

That just about sums up the prohibition movement, in the last analysis. It came as a matter of efficiency, rather than of morals.

Smith says that when he first went to sea the ships were so small and tossed about so much in storms that "only hardy individuals cared for the North Atlantic trip except in May, June and July when there were prospects of fine weather."

He recalls that many of the old-time liner passengers were hardened toppers who could drink all day and most of the night without ever getting drunk.

Their favorite breakfast, served at 11 in the morning, was deviled bones with champagne.

The best whisky in those days cost only 90 cents a quart, with gin 50 cents and lower. Beer was served at 6 cents a bottle. Maybe this explains the origin of the expression, "good old days."

The old-time ocean passengers bought their hooch, aboard ship, by the bottle. And at dinner time in the first-class dining saloon 30 years ago champagne was seen on every table.

Liquor flowed freely at all hours of day and night. Many of us can remember when John Barleycorn was the silent partner of business on shore also, it being customary for a drummer to take a prospective customer out and throw a dozen rounds of drinks into him before inducing him to sign on the dotted line.

People have been tapering away from liquor gradually but steadily in the last 20 years. Many have the notion that prohibition was "put over" in a twinkling. They forget that, out of about 2500 countries in the United States, only 150 or even fewer still were wet when the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Such drinking as still takes place is viewed through a magnifying glass. Smith, veteran seaman, says drinking aboard ship has been steadily declining for 20 years, but most landmen seem to have the notion that ocean travel resembles "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

TREELESS AMERICA SEEN

This year enough lumber will be used in United States to build and furnish a row of five-room houses which, placed every 50 feet apart, would reach from New York to Seattle, down to San Francisco, east to New Orleans and back to New York.

With a lumber demand like that, and with more trees being chopped down than planted, it's easy to understand why we are rapidly heading toward a Treeless America.

Brick and concrete are the coming building materials in a country stripped of trees to a condition of ugliness.

OPIUM CONSUMPTION

China, discouraged by civil war and other troubles, again is smoking opium on a big scale. So reports the Rev. Dr. H. H. Gowen, back to the University of Washington after a trip in the orient.

Americans individually used to do the same thing with whisky. Discouraged, they "drowned their troubles," instead of facing and meeting them. Nationally we're getting the alcohol out of our system. Sobered, we're making strange discoveries about our economic predicament.

STRUGGLE TO LIVE

We Americans are gluttons for punishment, seem to thrive on trouble. The Census Bureau reports that the average length of life increased three and a third years during 1921, a year of hard times.

One reason for this is that we fight harder to live when the struggle for existence becomes more severe. Nothing is more consuming, even fatal, than a "soft life."

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A DIVIDED FARMER OPINION

The informed farmer sentiment of Minnesota is sharply divided on the question of a special session of Congress to seek stabilization of wheat prices through an act of that body. By a vote of 10 to seven the directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation rejected a resolution favoring that plan after an extensive discussion in which both proponents and opponents had their opportunity to be heard.

Just what was the deciding influence in making the vote what it was cannot be ascertained authoritatively, but there was enough in the debate to indicate that some of the members of the board believed the proposed plan to be unsound in principle.

There appeared to be small hope in the board that President Coolidge would call Congress in extra session, whatever the tenor of the board's action and there also was a feeling that even if Congress should meet, take up the question and act favorably on a price-fixing measure, the action would come too late to be of any great use this year in quarters where there is the strongest demand for arbitrary price-fixing. Congress is called a high speed body when it tackles questions like this.

Price-fixing could be only a temporary expedient of relief for producers of wheat. That fact is recognized by men of all shades of opinion on the propriety of the proposed intervention by Congress. It is universally conceded that no enduring policy of legislative stabilization would be satisfactory to farmers or any other group interest. Proponents of price-fixing say that there is an emergency which warrants going out of the usual course in aid of wheat farmers. Others, while admitting the emergency, have their misgivings about the precedent that would thus be set in time of need. These are the ones who ask: "What are the ones who produce the wheat, why not other products of agriculture?"

Whatever may be said by either side about direct congressional relief to meet a temporary exigency, the fact remains and is admitted that enduring farm prosperity calls for a very considerable readjustment of farm activities to bring wheat production more nearly into parity with home consumption, to diversify as the conditions of this or that farm, or this or that agricultural community, may dictate, and to put back into the soil the nurturing elements that are drawn from it, wastefully or otherwise. Those who think of these things turn their heads inevitably to dairying, stockraising, and poultry production, all of which families are rotating crops. They also think of better marketing conditions for the farmer. They cannot help so thinking if they take into due account the weight of testimony of practical experience. Minneapolis Evening Tribune.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Chatterbox Maggie came flying toward Mister Hunter's cave, squawking like a hen with a bad cold. "Quick! Quick!" he shouted. "You're needed, Mister Gallop. Davy Deer's got his horns caught and can't get loose. Mister Hunter Man is coming up the mountain on his horse and he's got a big gun. Oh, do hurry!"

"Chatterbox, you're a nice fellow after all," said the cowboy fairy. You're a good friend to all the mountain folk, it's a fact, even if you are rowdy. Yes, I'll help Davy Deer. Come on, Nancy and Nick, we'll start for the place at once. You'd better fly over to the trail where Mister Hunter Man is riding. Chatterbox and do what you can to hold him back."

The Twins came at once and got on the little fat ponies as fast as they could climb.

Then the three of them dashed away toward the place where Davy Deer was.

But after all, they couldn't get near enough to Davy to do him any good, for deer can go places that no pony can set his feet.

"We'll have to get off our ponies and crawl over on our hands and knees," declared the fairyman. "It's too bad you were riding boots today, Twins, or you could have wished yourselves over the steep places with your magic shoes. Be patient, Davy!" he called. "We'll be there in a minute."

Mister Hunter Man came riding up the mountain path, up and up and up, looking everywhere for Davy Deer. He never suspected that Chatterbox Maggie had told on him and was looking at him at that very minute from a tree on the high cliff over his head.

And it took him fifteen minutes to find it and get it out.

Just the fifteen minutes that Mister Gallop and Nancy and Nick needed to reach the place and to whisk away the branches that had caught his long horns!

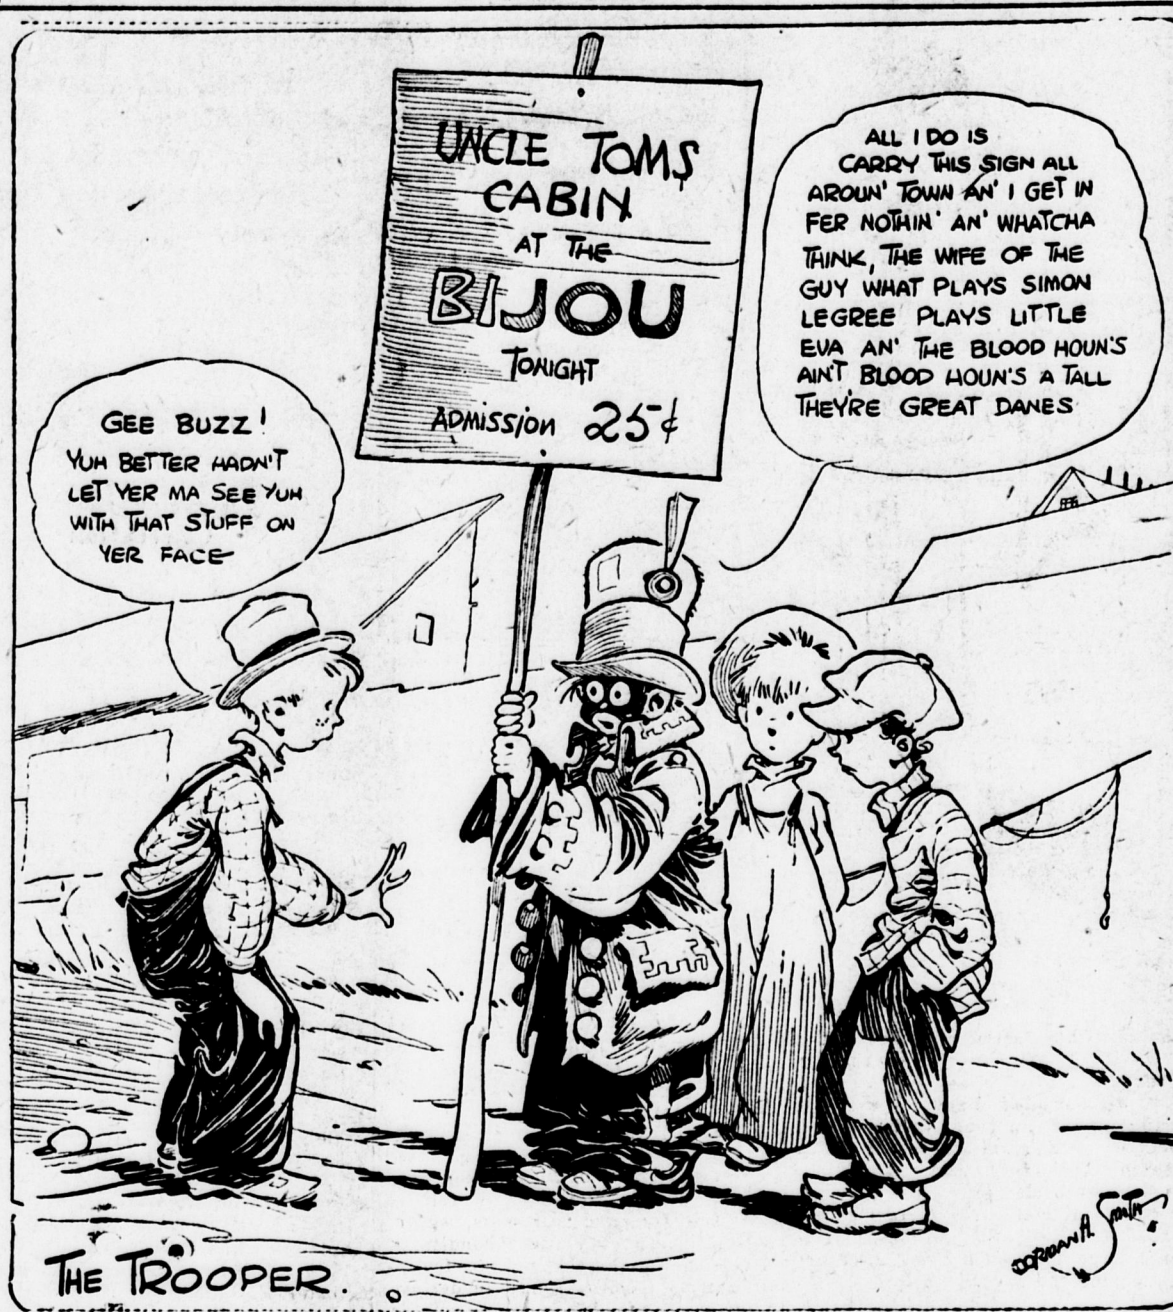

When Mister Hunter Man reached the place, there wasn't a soul there. Just a lot of broken branches and some footprints all around.

"I wonder what all this means!" he remarked in a puzzled voice. "I wonder if there was a deer here lately!"

Chatterbox Maggie was holding his sides, he was laughing so hard. He knew.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS MOTHER, MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

When I went home last night, I found Leslie with a very high temperature. She was so feverish that I was frightened and wanted to send for the doctor.

She finally confided in me that she had received a letter from you in which you intimated she was to blame for any neglect I might have given you. I hate very much to say harsh things to my mother, but certainly since my marriage to Leslie, you have absolutely been a thorn in the flesh.

I cannot understand. Why, do you know, I had dreams before my marriage that possibly you would come and live with us, and now I know that you are the last person in the world whom I would ask to do such a thing.

Right here I want to say to you that I am not going to pay that bill for painting your house. That Bradford woman said you have plenty of money in the bank to do this. I don't care so much for the money part of it. It is very probable that had you written to me in the right spirit and asked me about painting the house, I would have been very glad to give it to you. But the letter you wrote me had so many unkind insinuations about Leslie that I made up my mind then I should never do anything for you until you had come to your senses. Since then, of course, you have written me those terrible letters about the baby which have made matters much worse. I am trying to write this letter as calmly as possible; consequently it must sound rather stilted. What I want to say is this:

I have given orders that any letter coming to Leslie directed by your hand and having the postmark of your home upon it is not to be opened and Leslie has promised me she will burn it without unsealing it.

In my last letter to you I said that neither Leslie nor I would come into your house until we could bring the baby. Now I will go further and say that neither Leslie nor I will answer any communication from either you or that Bradford woman unless they are written in a decent manner showing some kindness for Leslie and respect for me.

I expect you will think this is a very hard letter and I will perhaps hurt you more when I tell you that it is not nearly as hard as it would be if I said plainly how I feel toward you. I never thought that my own mother would prove so narrow minded and so selfishly self-centered as you have been.

I should not write to you this way except that I know you have an income sufficient for all your simple wants and I sincerely advise you to make arrangements with that Bradford woman to live with you. You seem to be thoroughly in sympathy with each other and I think it would be a very happy arrangement.

Do not, I beg of you, write to Leslie again. It will do you no good as she will never read the letter.

Your son,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Flasher's Mayor Keeps People In Touch With News

Flasher, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Fannie Berrier, mayor of Flasher, N. D., and chief operator for the Northwest Bell Telephone Company there, believes in humanizing her job to the extent of considering her subscribers her personal friends.

When the town is cut off from railroad communication on account of storms, she keeps the telephone subscribers on the rural lines in touch with any news of the day which she may have learned over the long distance lines.

"The switchboard to me comes as near being human as anything ever invented," she says. "I believe every one is strong for the operator who humanizes her job to the extent that she considers her subscribers her personal friends, and serves them in that spirit."

Ku Klux Klan Is Organized in N. D.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 11.—With the recent meeting about 1,000 klansmen here Friday night with the American Club of the Klansmen of the Realm of North Dakota, received its charter in the official mysteries. A burning straw stack and three burning crosses, the lights of 100 crosses, lighted the scene of the mystery. At some time have to be opened and a careful examination made, by experts, of the teeth to satisfy relatives of missing men that these victims are not the relatives they seek. Already Chief of Police Obermiller has on file dentists' records of work done but these records will be kept until returning hundreds from northwest, thrashing fields to their homes will have weeded down the list of missing, and all other means of identification have been sifted down.

Bodies Of Slain Men May Be Exhumed

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 11.—It is possible that the grave of the potter's field of Highland Home Cemetery, wherein were laid the bodies of the two murder victims recently killed in the straw stack on Capitol Hill, will at some time have to be opened and a careful examination made, by experts, of the teeth to satisfy relatives of missing men that these victims are not the relatives they seek. Already Chief of Police Obermiller has on file dentists' records of work done but these records will be kept until returning hundreds from northwest, thrashing fields to their homes will have weeded down the list of missing, and all other means of identification have been sifted down.

Mr. McKenzie will start digging and shipping his crop in about a week and at present prices, or even at fifty cents per bushel, he declares the profit will be satisfactory.

Caught In Thresher Boy Escapes Death

Hankinson, Sept. 11.—Arnold Tieggs, 20, son of Frank Tieggs farmer near here, narrowly escaped a terrible death when squeezed between a threshing engine and feeder. The boy was operating a rig and while moving to a new setting struck a streak of sand. Reversing the engine to back up for a new start, he was unable to switch the gears again and he was caught across the body between the steering wheel and the end of the feeder which was attached to the rear of the engine. A helper was forced to break the steering wheel with a large hammer before he could release the young man.

No bones were broken but it is feared he suffered internal injuries.

Jewelry Store At Hatton Robbed

Hatton, N. D., Sept. 11.—Robbers, evidently professionals and thought to have come from some distance, made almost a clean sweep when they entered the Bohg and Nyhus jewelry store here Friday night, possibly about 3 a. m.

The robbers entered the store through a rear window, broke into the safe by smashing the combination lock and escaped with practically everything of value in the store consisting of 200 watches, several diamonds and other jewels, the value of the loot being estimated at about $4,000.

The robbery was discovered by Ed Nyhus, member of the firm when he arrived at the store this morning. The silverware and some cut glass was all that he found left of the stock.

W. Buttz and will be sentenced early in November, the court permitting him first to get his farm affairs straightened out for the winter.

The still was dug out of a pit in the hog yard on the farm by Deputy Sheriff Hustad, who suspected something was hidden in the ground due to the indication that the ground had been loosened. Officers were accompanied on their raid by Jailer Ivor Ruston.

Editors Select "Pep" Staff; First Issue Will Appear Sept. 21

One of the first indications that school has really started has been the organization of the "Pep" staff, preparatory to the publication of the high school newspaper, the first issue of which will probably appear Friday, Sept. 21.

The Bismarck Tribune has been selected to print the paper again this year. Very few changes will be made in the style of printing, thus far although a desire to make the paper look more nearly like a newspaper is being aimed at by the editors. The success of Donald Jones, editor in chief, and Bruce Murphy, business manager, last year in getting out a high school newspaper in competition with four different papers from four different states encourages the boys this year to aspire to first place.

The new staff has already held a meeting in which plans for the year were outlined by the editors, and the work of news gathering for the first issue started upon by the corps of workers.

NOTHING BETTER THAN THE TAILORED STREET DRESS

There's not a garment the well-dressed American woman likes better than the tailored street dress. Her own invention—her pet and particular hobby in this frock of simple, sometimes spring and fall with a fur neck-piece and trim accessories.

Three of the fall styles are sketched. One has the side closing with a slight drape—a style that is as good as ever it was although the ties that fastened it last spring have given away to an ornamental buckle.

A wide-braided band is the only trimming of another model which boasts of unusual sleeves lined to match the small vest. The third style is even plainer.

New materials are unknown for these frocks—twill and twill cord and serge are the fabrics used and navy blue the favorite color.

NEW DODGE BROTHERS CAR EASY RIDING

It doesn't take an owner long to detect the remarkable riding qualities of the new Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, according to M. B. Gilman, local Dodge Brothers dealer.

The cars have been tried out now by owners over every kind of going and the riding comfort has been demonstrated thoroughly. It is felt in both the front and rear seats, regardless of position or road conditions. There is no questioning the feeling of unusual comfort and the definite impression of stability and solidity which contribute so materially to satisfaction in driving.

The splendid riding comfort of the new Dodge Brothers car is due largely to the type of rear spring suspension employed. The rear springs which are extremely long, are under-slung. Also, the fact that the body has been lengthened and lowered tends to make the car cling more firmly to the road.

The new car is, in every sense, a remarkably easy riding car.

CHINESE EMBROIDERY.

The Chinese influence is showing itself even in knitted wear. Hip-length coats with long, loose sleeves, high standing collars and bandings of brilliant Chinese embroidery button up close to the throat with small enamel buttons.

They're Shorter Only When Tailored

The tailored ones are shorter. Ten inches from the floor for skirts, the French say, and it's probable that America will accept this decision since American women have held out for short skirts stubbornly season after season.

Long skirts are expected to be the favorite for all afternoon and evening wear; however, it will be the modish two and three-piece suits for early fall and winter wear that will show trim ankles. Tailored dresses, too, and shaggy topcoats will be shorter.

METAL LINK BANDING.

Metal link banding, resembling the links in a mesh bag, is being used for the brims of the smaller hats. It hangs loosely from the brim edge and sways with the hat.

NEW NEGLIGEE.

The newest negligee is a semi-formal tea gown, made dress length and on dress lines. It is adaptable for informal dinner wear as well as negligee purposes.

NOVEL TRIMMING.

An elongated buttonhole of broadcloth trims a checked wool skirt, giving it a simulation of the popular wrap around mode.

MOIRE SASHES.

Wide sashes of moire ribbon are worn with gowns of georgette and of batiste and lace. Black sashes are worn with dresses of deep cream.

It's so Easy to make perfect Jelly & Jams

NEW PEN-JEL

It takes minutes now, where it used to take hours to make the most delicious jams and jellies. Mother used to be so terribly particular, because she knew that the best slip "in the making" resulted in spilling many dollars worth of sugar and fruit. But now, with new Pen-Jel, anyone following directions can make jam and jelly without the least fear of failure—because she knows that new Pen-Jel insures success. New Pen-Jel is a pure fruit element—never spoils—very inexpensive, too. Jellies and jams can be made for less than a penny a serving.

Try this Recipe for Delicious Grape Jelly

Place 3 cups grape juice in large preserving kettle. Add 1 cup sugar. New Pen-Jel and stir until it comes to a vigorous boil. Add 2 cups grape sugar, and boil back to vigorous boil, boiling 10 minutes, spreading on glass plates or jars.

Display Fine Stock At Dickinson Fair

"he story on display at the Stark County fair, which was held at Dickinson last week was some of the finest I've ever seen," declared Judge W. S. Casselman, who has just returned from the fair.

He said that the stock was owned by a number of individuals from all parts of the county and did not come from some organization or group of men as often happens at such gatherings.

"Burleigh county could well follow Stark county in organizing such a fair at which individuals and citizens of the county would have a chance of getting together and talking things over," asserted Judge Casselman.

"Everything on display was from Stark county, cattle and horses, hogs, sheep, and poultry raised on the farms; vegetables, and fruit from the gardens, and a splendid display of the work being done by the school children of the county," said the judge.

Eliminating Uncertainty

The farmer's problem is everyone's problem. The success of some plan that has for its purpose the improvement of agricultural conditions will react to the benefit of both town and country.

The single-crop system of agriculture has proven itself impracticable. The "cow-sow-hen" program as a workable substitute is gaining ground rapidly. One of its chief values lies in the fact that it tends to eliminate the element of uncertainty from farming operations.

Intelligent discussion as to methods, coupled with their practical application, will assure success and bring increased prosperity to this community.

Pokegama Spring Ginger Ale

Is So Good

You have heard of the famous Pokegama Spring Water—served on railroad dining cars and in hotels or cafes. Its quality is unquestioned.

This famous water is carbonated by putting into it—under pressure—CO₂ which, doctors have discovered, is an actual destroyer of bacillus.

To this carbonated water has been added pure Jamaica ginger, sparkling fruit juices, and fine cane sugar. The result is delicious, thirst quenching, Pokegama Spring Ginger Ale.

(Established 1873)

CONSTRUCTIVE PUBLICITY
J. M. Devine, state immigration commissioner, has a real message for the people of the nation in his address delivered Monday night at the Minneapolis broadcasting station. He sums up the advantage of this state from an agricultural standpoint and those who are eking out a mere existence as tenants on high priced land can read with profit what he has to say of the advantages of North Dakota.

A letter from the Minneapolis radio offices to Mr. Devine congratulates him upon his digest of the present economic situation declaring it to be one of the best and most unprejudiced that has been received at that station for broadcasting.

Mr. Devine shows that the price fixing expedients will avail little but that the only solution is in diversification and a more intelligent system of marketing. There are no demagogic assertions, no attempt to bait votes through advocacy of state or national subsidy, but an earnest plea for the farmer to organize his marketing and balance his crop output so he can control prices to the extent that obtains in other lines of industry.

This kind of publicity for the state should serve to focus attention upon the many advantages of this great middle west. It is also an earnest plea for diversification and if it will make the people think in other terms than that of wheat a great purpose has been served.

DRINKING DAYS
Drinking among passengers at sea has been steadily getting less and less, for the last 20 years. T. D. Smith makes this comment. He's chief steward of the White Star liner Adriatic, and he has been 35 years in the North Atlantic service.

The decline in drinking is a genuine prohibition movement, and not because liquor costs have gone up, Smith believes.

He says: "Efficiency in business—with telephones, wireless, radio, taxicabs, electrical devices and the general demand for more speed—has destroyed the old idea of doing business in the forenoon and devoting the rest of the day and night to drinking."

That just about sums up the prohibition movement, in the last analysis. It came as a matter of efficiency, rather than of morals.

Smith says that when he first went to sea the ships were so small and tossed about so much in storms that "only hardy individuals cared for the North Atlantic trip except in May, June and July when there were prospects of fine weather."

He recalls that many of the old-time liner passengers were hardened toppers who could drink all day and most of the night without ever getting drunk.

Their favorite breakfast, served at 11 in the morning, was deviled bones with champagne.

The best whisky in those days cost only 90 cents a quart, with gin 50 cents and lower. Beer was served at 6 cents a bottle. Maybe this explains the origin of the expression, "good old days."

The old-time ocean passengers bought their hooch, aboard ship, by the bottle. And at dinner time in the first-class dining saloon 30 years ago champagne was seen on every table.

Liquor flowed freely at all hours of day and night. Many of us can remember when John Barleycorn was the silent partner of business on shore also, it being customary for a drummer to take a prospective customer out and throw a dozen rounds of drinks into him before inducing him to sign on the dotted line.

People have been tapering away from liquor gradually but steadily in the last 20 years. Many have the notion that prohibition was "put over" in a twinkling. They forget that, out of about 2500 counties in the United States, only 150 or even fewer still were wet when the prohibition amendment was adopted.

Such drinking as still takes place is viewed through a magnifying glass. Smith, veteran seaman, says drinking aboard ship has been steadily declining for 20 years, but most landmen seem to have the notion that ocean travel resembles "Ten Nights in a Barroom."

TREELESS AMERICA SEEN
This year enough lumber will be used in United States to build and furnish a row of five-room houses which, placed every 50 feet apart, would reach from New York to Seattle, down to San Francisco, east to New Orleans and back to New York.

With a lumber demand like that, and with more trees being chopped down than planted, it's easy to understand why we are rapidly heading toward a Treeless America.

Brick and concrete are the coming building materials in a country stripped of trees to a condition of ugliness.

OPIUM CONSUMPTION
China, discouraged by civil war and other troubles, again is smoking opium on a big scale. So reports the Rev. Dr. H. H. Gowen back to the University of Washington after a trip in the orient.

Americans individually used to do the same thing with whisky. Discouraged, they "drowned their troubles," instead of facing and meeting them. Nationally we're getting the alcohol out of our system. Sobered, we're making strange discoveries about our economic predicament.

STRUGGLE TO LIVE
We Americans are gluttons for punishment, seem to thrive on trouble. The Census Bureau reports that the average length of life increased three and a third years during 1921, a year of hard times.

One reason for this is that we fight harder to live when the struggle for existence becomes more severe. Nothing is more consuming, even fatal, than a "soft life."

EDITORIAL REVIEW

A DIVIDED FARMER OPINION

The informed farmer sentiment of Minnesota is sharply divided on the question of a special session of Congress to seek stabilization of wheat prices through an act of that body. By a vote of 10 to seven the directors of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation rejected a resolution favoring that plan after an extensive discussion in which both proponents and opponents had their opportunity to be heard.

Just what was the deciding influence in making the vote what it was cannot be ascertained authoritatively, but there was enough in the debate to indicate that some of the members of the board believed the proposed plan to be unsound in principle.

There appeared to be small hope in the board that President Coolidge would call Congress in extra session, whatever the tenor of the board's action and there also was a feeling that even if Congress should meet, take up the question and act favorably on a price-fixing measure, the action would come too late to be of any great use this year in quarters where there is the strongest demand for arbitrary stabilization. Congress is not a high speed body when it tackles questions like this.

Price fixing could be only a temporary palliative of relief for producers of wheat. That fact is recognized by men of all shades of opinion on the propriety of the proposed interposition by Congress. It is universally conceded that no enduring policy of legislative stabilization would be satisfactory to farmers or any other group interest. Proponents of price-fixing say that there is an emergency which warrants going out of the usual course in aid of wheat farmers. Others, while admitting the emergency, have their misgivings about the precedent that would thus be set in time of peace. There are "the ones who ask: If wheat, why not other products of agriculture?"

Whatever may be said by either side about direct congressional relief to meet a temporary emergency, the fact remains and is admitted that enduring farm prosperity will require a very considerable readjustment of farm activities to bring wheat production more nearly into parity with home consumption, to diversify as the conditions of this or that farm, or this or that agricultural community, may dictate, and to put back into the soil the nurturing elements that are drawn from it wastefully or otherwise. Those who think of these things turn their heads inevitably to dairying, stockraising, and poultry production, all of which implies rotating crops. They also think of better marketing conditions for the farmer. They think of the necessity of taking into due account the weight of testimony of practical experience. Minneapolis Evening Tribune.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

Chatterbox Maggie came flying toward Mister Gallop's cave, squawking like a horn with a bad cold. "Quick! Quick!" he shouted. "You're needed, Mister Gallop. Davy Deer's got his horns caught and can't get loose, Mister Hunter. Man is coming up the mountain with his horse and he's got a big gun. Oh, do hurry!"

"Chatterbox, you're a nice fellow after all," said the cowboy fairly. "You're a good friend to all the mountain folk, it's a fact, even if you are a rowdy. Yes, I'll help Davy right away. Come on, Nancy and Nick, we'll start for the place at once. You'd better fly over to the trail where Mister Hunter Man is riding. Chatterbox, and do what you can to hold him back."

The Twins came at once and got on their little fat ponies as fast as they could climb. Then the three of them dashed away toward the place where Davy Deer was.

But after all, they couldn't get near enough to Davy to do him any good, for deer can go places that no pony can set his feet.

"We'll have to get off our ponies and crawl over on our hands and knees," declared the fairyman. "It's too bad you were riding, Davy, but Twister and Joy could have wished yourselves over the steep places with your magic shoes. Be patient, Davy!" he called. "We'll be there in a minute."

Mister Hunter Man came riding up the mountain path, up and up and up, looking everywhere for Davy Deer. He never suspected that Chatterbox Maggie had told on him and was looking at him at that very minute from a tree on the high cliff over his head.

And it took him fifteen minutes to find it and get it out. Just the fifteen minutes that Mister Gallop and Nancy and Nick needed to reach Davy and to whistle away the branches that had caught his long horns!

When Mister Hunter Man reached the place, there wasn't a soul there. Just lots of broken branches and some footprints all around. "I wonder what all this means," he remarked in a puzzled voice. "I wonder if there was a deer here lately!"

Chatterbox Maggie was holding his sides, he was laughing so hard. He knew.

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO HIS MOTHER, MRS. MARY ALDEN PRESCOTT

When I went home last night, I found Leslie with a very high temperature. She was so feverish that I was frightened and wanted to send for the doctor.

She finally confided in me that she had received a letter from you in which you intimated she was to blame for any neglect I might have given you. I was very much shocked by this, and I would have said harsh things to my mother, but I certainly since my marriage to Leslie have had absolutely been a thorn in the flesh.

I cannot understand why, as you know, I had dreams before my marriage that possibly you would come and live with us, and now I know that you are the last person in the world whom I would ask to do such a thing.

Right here I want to say to you that I am not going to pay that bill for painting your house. That Bradford woman said you have plenty of money in the bank to do this. I don't care so much for the money part of it. It is very probable that had you written to me in the right spirit and asked me about painting the house, I would have been very glad to give it to you. But the letter you wrote me had so many unkind insinuations about Leslie that I would pay my mind then I should never do anything for you until you had come to your senses. Since then, of course, you have written me those terrible letters about the baby which have made matters much worse. I am trying to write this letter as calmly as possible; consequently it is most sound rather stilted. What I want to say is this:

I have given orders that any letter coming to Leslie directed by your hand and having the postmark of your home upon it is not to be opened and Leslie has promised me she will burn it without unsealing it.

In my last letter to you I said that neither Leslie nor I would come into your house until we could bring the baby. Now I will go further and say that neither Leslie nor I will answer any communication from either you or that Bradford woman unless they are written in a decent manner showing some kindness for Leslie and respect for me.

I expect you will think this is a very hard letter and I will perhaps hurt you more when I tell you that it is not nearly as hard as it would be if I said plainly how I feel toward you. I never thought that my own mother would prove so narrow minded and so selfishly self-centered as you have been.

I should not write to you this way except that I know you have an income sufficient for all your simple wants and I sincerely advise you to make arrangements with that Bradford woman to live with you. You seem to be thoroughly in sympathy with each other and I think it would be a very happy arrangement.

Do not, I beg of you, write to Leslie again. It will do you no good as she will never read the letter.

Your son,
JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT.

Northwest News

Flasher's Mayor Keeps People In Touch With News

Flasher, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Fannie Barrister, mayor of Flasher, N. D., and chief operator for the Northwest Bell Telephone Company there, believes in humanizing her job to the extent of considering her subscribers her personal friends.

When the town is cut off from railroad communication on account of storms, she keeps the telephone subscribers on the rural lines in touch with any news of the day which she may have learned over the long distance lines.

"The switchboard to me comes as near being human as anything man ever invented," she says. "I believe every one is strong for the operator who humanizes her job to the extent that she considers her subscribers her personal friends, and serves them in that spirit."

A burning straw stack and three burning crosses, the lights of 100 crosses, lighted the scene of the mystery, with numerous guards doing sentinel duty to prevent prying outsiders from disturbing the ceremonies. Rev. F. Halsey Ambrose, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Grand Forks, was master of ceremonies and delivered a lengthy address.

Bodies Of Slain Men May be Exhumed

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 11.—It is possible that the grave of the potter's field of Highland Home Cemetery, wherein were laid the bodies of the two murder victims recently found in the straw stack on Capitol Hill, will at some time have to be opened and a careful examination made, by experts, of the teeth to satisfy relatives of missing men that these victims are not the relatives they seek. Already Chief of Police Obermiller has on file dentists' records of work done but these records will be held until the returning hundreds from northwest threshing fields to their homes will have weeded down the list of missing, and all other means of identification have been sifted down.

Inquiries from anxious relatives so far include two from Geneva, Wis., two from Minneapolis, one each from Fargo, Minn., and Duluth (Minn.) jury says dry agent must take only 18 drinks. Doesn't it depend on how dry he is?

Last Rites For Farmer Killed By Corn Binder

McVie, N. D., Sept. 11.—Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon for F. O. Walwood, 68, well known farmer of that county who was killed Wednesday when the team that he was driving on a corn binder started up when he was in front of the machine. When found the man was in a dying condition and a physician who was summoned found the neck broken, both arms broken, both legs fractured and the flesh badly mutilated. Apparently he had been dragged a considerable distance by the machine.

Child Dies From Burns Sustained As Auto Explodes

Fordville, N. D., Sept. 11.—Kenneth, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Wangness of Fordville died 36 hours after sustaining severe burns while seated in the family auto. The lad remained in the car, parked on a street here, while his father was on an errand. The car virtually exploded and was a mass of flames in a moment. Kenneth jumped out, but flames inhaled and burns sustained proved fatal.

Jewelry Store At Hatton Robbed

Hatton, N. D., Sept. 11.—Robbers, evidently professionals and taught to have come from some distance, made almost a clean sweep when they entered the Bobb and Nyhus jewelry store here Friday night, possibly about 3 a. m.

The robbers entered the store through a rear window, broke into the safe by smashing the combination lock and escaped with practically entire stock of the jewelry store consisting of 200 watches, several diamonds and other jewels, the value of the loot being estimated at about $4,000.

The robbery was discovered by Ed Nyhus, member of the firm when he arrived at the store this morning. The silverware and some cut glass was all that he found left of the stock.

Sheldon Farmers Form Credit Co.

Sheldon, Sept. 11.—The Farmers Credit Co. of Sheldon was formed here when about twenty farmers met and signed up the initial papers. The temporary board of directors includes Henry T. Boyle, John Sheo, P. J. Boyle, Joseph Spiekerman and Martin Boyle.

A considerable amount of new government money will be brought into the territory to finance the farmers. Members of the company can borrow through the corporation at a reasonable rate of interest and will secure money to meet their obligations and have an opportunity to hold their crop for better prices.

Money can also be secured through the company for the purchase of livestock and it will be the means of bringing into this territory a considerable number of well bred dairy cattle.

Farmer Hides Still In Pit in Hog Yard

Minot, Sept. 11.—Roy Humble, a farmer living about 12 miles northwest of this city, has placed Sheriff Ruston and Deputy Sheriff Huestis found a 30-gallon still a few days ago, has pleaded guilty before Judge C. W. Buttz and will be sentenced early in November, the court permitting him first to get his farm affairs straightened out for the winter.

The still was dug out of a pit in the hog yard on the farm by Deputy Sheriff Huestis, who suspected something was hidden in the ground due to the indication that the ground had been loosened. The officers were accompanied on their raid by Jailor Ivor Ruston.

Humble is ready to under $1,000 bail for trial in district court on a charge of having intoxicating liquor in his possession and for manufacturing the stuff.

Flax Plants Have 155 Bulbs Each

Alamo, Sept. 11.—E. W. Loe, who rents D. L. Campbell's farm at Alamo, N. D., has an 80 acre field from which were picked a number of flax plants that had from 155 to 157 bulbs each.

This unusual productivity surpasses the flax plant brought in by Henry Peterson of Kempton, which had seven stems with 137 bulbs from one seed and which was considered a record breaker.

Aged Woman Found Dying In Her Home

Oakes, N. D., Sept. 11.—Mrs. Ella Levison Ellsworth, 69, who has lived alone here for some time, was found dying in the basement of her home by a niece who called and found the door locked. She was unconscious apparently having suffered a stroke of apoplexy, and died a few hours later. It was believed she was stricken and had lain where she fell for about 24 hours before she was found.

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS LOOK GOOD

Coach Houser Says That He Expects as Good a Team as That of Last Year

Seven Lettermen Back With Several Likely Looking New Prospects

With about forty men out, Coach Houser says the prospects are bright for as good a football team as last year. Of the forty men who have turned out so far seven are letter men of last year while many of them were either on the squad or received some valuable training last year.

Among the new men who are out for practice the following look likely: Olson, Bender, Roldous, Day, Fitch, Seymour, Noddings, Russell, Flynn, Sculsen, Knowles and G. Lydahl. The letter men who are back this year include: Alfson, Scott, Bender, Lane J. Storgelin, O'Hara and Brown.

Coach Houser has arranged the following schedule, which may be added to later:

Alumni Sept. 15.
Training School Sept. 22.
Valley City Sept. 29.
Mandan at Mandan Oct. 13.
Dickinson at Dickinson Oct. 20.
Mandan at Bismarck Oct. 27.
This schedule leaves Oct. 6 open but it is expected that a game for this date will be scheduled in a few days. A strong team will be brought here to play during the Teachers Institute on November 23, according to Houser.

The game with the alumni next Saturday should be a good test of the ability of the High School team according to Coach Houser because the alumni team will be made up of men who have played considerable football since leaving High School. Among the members of the alumni team will be Kludt, Flow, Roberts, Middaugh, Doyle, Holta, L. Flow, Hahn, Hassel, and Cook.

DEMPSEY LIKES CARD GAMES WITH PALS

Although He Likes to Show Them Up and Win Every Hand He Enjoys the Game at His Camp

Saratoga Springs, Sept. 11.—Jack Dempsey likes to play cards with certain of his friends. He also likes to win. And when the games are on in camp, he is particular that he does win.

The world's heavyweight champion admits that he likes to stage a "frame-up" and then tell his fellow players how he has put it over on them. He will practice sleight of hand tricks with the cards for a few hours, but he has no money changing wheel in order to make something during the progress of a game. He generally has a marked deck around that he rings in unless his camp mates, all of whom are wise to the champion's hobby watch him closely.

As the camp games are always for fun, with no money changing wheel, the camp-mates get as big a "kick" out of the play as Jack does.

While he was training at Atlantic City two years ago for his match with Georges Carpentier, someone brought to camp a tin roulette wheel. Mild gambling was immediately in order. Finally Dempsey got the wheel and put it out of sight. It reappeared a few days later and Dempsey announced that he had found a "system" to beat it. After he demonstrated this, he told the camp-mates that he had tampered with the wheel until it would "do as it was told."

Pinoche, hearts and "rummy" are Dempsey's favorite games.

LUIS SMARTER THAN FOLKS FIGURE

By Bob Dorman
NEA Service Writer

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 11.—Luis Angel Firpo is no dumbbell. He had been listening to his friend and interpreter, Carlos Vega, read him an article by a leading sports writer in which makes a practice of Dempsey was called a farce on account of Firpo's supposed weakness on defense. (Firpo has all the sporting news read to him.)

Turning to Vega he said: "So Senor Dempsey will cut me to pieces. I am wide open for every punch." "Look at my face carefully. Look at my ears. Do you see any scars. Are my ears what you call 'cauliflower'?" "No? Perhaps Luis' face does not see the full force of those blows. Perhaps his face is moving away, when they land."

A good story is going the rounds of the fight fans in New York regarding Firpo's canniness in money matters. A magazine which is devoted to sports and in which makes a practice of running photos of athletes on the front cover, for which advertising the athlete is supposed to contribute, sent their representative to see Firpo. The proposition to run Firpo's picture on the front cover for the modest sum of $500 finally was accepted after two hours' negotiations through an interpreter.

Kinks o' the Links

Player drives his ball into the rough. Upon reaching his ball he discovers the lie is a rather bad one, and the shot very difficult because the slope of the ground made it impossible to assume a proper stance. A rather large stone is resting in the rough nearby. The player so places the stone that, by putting one foot on it, he builds up his stance and greatly improves his chances for a good drive. Is this permissible?

There is nothing in the rules that definitely forbids the building up of one's stance, but it seems such an act would be contrary to custom and would not conform to fair play and good sportsmanship.

A considerable amount of sand has been deposited near a green to be used in the upkeep of the course. Player drives his second shot into the sand close to green. Had not the sand been there the ball would probably have reached the green and the player been in a much more advantageous position. Has the player the right to lift the ball and drop it without penalty?

Since the material, sand, was placed near the green by the greenkeeper, who figured on making certain changes, the player should be permitted to lift and drop his ball without penalty.

Hitting Into Many Double Plays Convinces Cobb He's Slowing Up

By NEA Service.
Detroit, Sept. 10.—For several years the baseball experts in the spring have commented on the fact that Ty Cobb was slowing up. Then, just as the experts began to think they were right, Cobb would start on a mad speed rampage that would upset all the dope.

Despite the chances that Cobb has been taking on the bases for 13 years' not until a few years ago did he suffer any injury to his legs. Then came a knee injury that kept Cobb out of the game for weeks. On his return he seemed as fast as ever. Since that time the knee has been reinjured, and it is now beginning to tell in the speed of his most remarkable play.

This year Cobb is being thrown out on slow balls to the infield and on mad speed balls that he would have beaten a step or two ten years ago. Incidentally, time and again he has been doubling up. Once upon a time

CREPE NOT GOOD LUCK IN JAPAN

Japanese Baseball Team Blames Crepe Arm Bands For Loss of Games

Tokio, Sept. 11.—The members of the Azusa Middle School baseball team believe they have discovered why they have been losing their games lately.

They decided they wanted baseball uniforms such as are worn by American teams. They saw a photograph of the Cleveland American team in a magazine and took it to a tailor and told him to make uniforms just like those of the "Yankees."

The uniforms were made. Then the Azubas began to lose. A fan from America saw the Japanese playing and asked them why each of them wore a band of crepe around their left arm. The Japanese denied they were in mourning and said they assumed a black band was part of the uniform.

It was learned the photograph of the Cleveland team was taken while its members were in mourning for better Chapman who died after being hit on the head for a ball.

Dempsey Prefers Drab Colors

New York, Sept. 11.—The bathrobes that boxers wear into the ring have always been in wonderful color combinations. A lemon and black check robe with purple trimmings has been made famous by Luis Angel Firpo. Other ideas range from startling shades of color, with monograms, or names of the wearer blazoned thereon, to a hodge-podge of shades and figures that fairly take the breath away.

Jack Dempsey, the world's champion has yet to appear in a bathrobe when he makes his entry into the ring for the defense of his title. An old sweater, either faded red or purple, a towel thrown over his head and shoulders is all the wrapping the champion affects. His trunks are invariably white, with his country's colors knotted at the waist.

Puzzling Plays

THE PLAY.

In the first play there is a runner on third and two out. With three balls and two strikes on the batsman, he swings at the next pitch which is wild. The batsman misses the ball. Likewise gets away from the catcher and rolls to the stand.

The batsman who went to second failed to touch first. The ball was thrown to the first baseman, held at that base, and the umpire ruled out the runner who failed to touch first, making the third out.

In the other play there is a runner on third and two out and three balls and two strikes on the batsman. The next pitch is wild. The umpire rules it a fourth ball, entitling the batter to first. The pitch eluded the catcher and rolled to the grandstand.

The runner on third crossed the plate on the play, while the batsman reached second. He failed to touch first. The ball is thrown there and he is declared out, retiring the side. Does the run count?

THE INTERPRETATION.
In the first play the run does not count. The batsman who struck out and reached second on the play, having failed to touch first, never became the occupant of that base. The rules state that a man cannot score on a play in which the batsman fails to reach first for the third time.

In the second play the run does count. The batsman who struck out and reached second on the play, having failed to touch first, never became the occupant of that base. The rules state that a man cannot score on a play in which the batsman fails to reach first for the third time.

first created just such a situation. Never having touched first he failed to gain title to the bag.

In the second play the run counts. The base on balls entitled the batsman to first. In failing to touch that base on his way to second he made himself liable to be put out as was the case, but his action in no way affected the scoring of the run.

Western North Dakota Meet Draws From Big Territory in State

Murphy and Lenz, of Jamestown, winners of the doubles and winners of the semi-finals in the singles in the Western North Dakota Tennis Meet held at the Country Club last week will play the championship match at Jamestown as soon as conditions permit according to Fred Fage, manager of the meet held here.

Murphy and Lenz, playing as a team took the Doubles Championship and reached the semi-finals in the Single play when they were called home to take charge of a meet being held in Jamestown. This makes it necessary for the two men to play off the Western North Dakota title match at Jamestown instead of in this city as planned.

N. Y. NATIONALS ADVANCE LEAD IN LEAGUE

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Sept. 11.—The New York Nationals in a batting beat yesterday advanced their lead in the National League to 51-2 games by knocking Boston around the lot 10 to 4. Pittsburgh by shutting out Cincinnati, 8 to 0, retained second place, leading the Reds by a half game.

Brooklyn beat Philadelphia 7 to 1. In the American the Yankees and Red Socks were the only teams to meet, New York winning, 3 to 1. Babe Ruth again tied Cy Williams for home run honors when he banged out his 35th.

Billy Evans Says

WHEN a champion fighter engages in a no-decision contest you can rest assured that the title-holder seldom steps out at top speed. No decision bouts are regarded as the soft spots by champions. In taking part in such a contest the only thing they must guard against is a possible knockout. As a rule they permit their opponent to be the aggressor throughout and it doesn't matter how many points are piled up against the champion. Such things mean nothing in a no-decision bout. At the finish the champion collects the big end of the receipts and departs.

THE above is prompted by the fact that the wires recently carried the report that "Kid" Wagner of Philadelphia had decisively outpointed Champion Dundee in all but one of the eight rounds of a no-decision affair. Some of Dundee's followers read the item with much alarm, feeling that it boded no good for Johnny in his coming bout with Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard.

WHILE it may not be to the credit of the champions, they seldom do their best in a no-decision affair. As a rule such bouts are regarded in the light of training. In his bout with Wagner it is possible that Dundee is carrying the fight to the limit of his endurance, while he did his best to keep out of the way of the many punches started at him. Keeping away from an opponent calls for more work than being the aggressor. It calls for fast foot work and the most elusive dodging and slipping of punches.

FOR his Philly engagement Dundee probably received from $5000 to $8000. For his bout with Leonard he will receive many times that amount. All of which explains why Dundee took no great chances in his clash with Wagner. Think of what an injured hand would mean trying to glory to Dundee's record.

NOW is the time of the year when the heads of many major league managers are cut off by the rumor route. In each major league there are several distinct disappointments. The owners of such teams are naturally disgusted. When a club fails to win with material that appears to be better than the ordinary, the blame is usually placed on the manager without going any deeper, to find perhaps the real reasons.

MANAGING a major league ball club is far from a soft spot. It is a job that calls for a good showing if you care to feel at all content that you will be retained. You must win. A winning ball club gets the money. A club picked to be in the first division and then fails is always a "blow" financially, for the fans quit quick when the athletes fail to deliver.

A MANAGER with a one-year contract and his club in the second division as September rolls around isn't to be chided if he starts looking for a new job. Connie Mack, after finishing the season, is looking for a new job.

STATE CHAMP

William Rand, high school lad of Yonkers, photographed as he won the New York State Boys' Championship in the recent state tournament.

ishing in last place for years, once remarked to me with a twinkle in his eye: "While I am worrying about my ball club, thank heaven I don't have to worry about my job. You see being part owner of the club I refuse to fire myself." No doubt Connie is the only tail-end manager in the history of the game who didn't have to worry about his job.

Football Prospects Bright At Valley

Valley City, N. D., Sept. 11.—Football prospects for the Valley City high school this year look exceptional.

DAVIS CUP PLAY

ally bright, according to Coach Rees who today announced that eight experienced warriors of the gridiron are expected to return to school under his direction for the coming season which opens September 15.

In addition to the experienced players who are expected to seek berths on the 1923 squad, Coach Rees is confident that the fall matriculation will bring additional good material for his machine. But the new squad will have a hard task in attempting to lower the mark set by last year's team under the field leadership of Captain John Meinhardt.

LEGAL BLOCK REMOVED FOR BIG FIGHT

Court Rules That Dempsey-Firpo Fight May Be Staged Friday Night

ARENA STARTED

New York, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—With the removal yesterday of all legal obstacles that have beset the path of the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight title match, work was rushed on the additions to the Polo Grounds arena, advance ticket sales boomed and the boxers put redoubled energy in the finishing stages of their training campaigns for the battle next Friday night.

The threatened entanglements were brushed aside in supreme court when Justice Hagarty denied the application of Harry Wills, negro challenger, for a temporary injunction against the championship struggle. Wills charged that he had been unjustly discriminated against by the state athletic commission and that his challenge to Dempsey more than a year ago had been ignored, but the court ruled that he had put forward no basis for interference with the forthcoming bout.

FIRPO LIVES UP TO WORK
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The same heavy sparring sessions, made more interesting by their liveliness, were done today by Luis Angel Firpo, who meets Jack Dempsey for the world's title in New York Friday night.

The Argentinian worked for speed, practiced defense and gave his jaw and stomach the punch test. His sparring mates, John Lester Johnson, Young Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe McCann, as usual, left the ring pretty well worn.

The South American seemed to have acquired the knack of shooting left, then right, and viciously instead of launching the famed right, then backing away and letting it go again. He saw the effect of this sort of punching and appeared pleased.

There had been talk early today that Firpo's left arm was giving him trouble, but there was no evidence of soreness during the workout.

WALKER SEES DEMPSY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Plunging into his final two days of training, Jack Dempsey revealed an amazing burst of speed in five rounds of boxing against four sparring partners yesterday, convincing his admirers that he was ready to defend his title against Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night.

The world's heavyweight champion, satisfied with the power back of his punches, intends to devote the last two days to shaping his judgment of distance. Jack Kearns, manager of the titleholder, before leaving for New York last night, said Dempsey would box today and Wednesday, but only against light sparring partners.

Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, believes Dempsey will dispose of Firpo within three or four rounds. Walker watched the champion go through his paces and proclaimed him to be in perfect condition.

INQUEST FOR MONEY.

Birmingham, Eng., Sept. 11.—Twenty sounds in gold, found by a boy, was the subject for an inquest recently. The jury learned the boy gave it to police immediately and did not try to hide it. As a result he may get a grant of 16 pounds by the government for his honesty.

EXPECT SECOND LARGEST CROWD TO SEE FIGHT

Tex Rickard Sees Prospects of Second Largest Crowd in History of the Ring

Largest Crowd Saw Jack Dempsey Defend His Title Against Carpentier

New York, Sept. 11.—When Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Luis Angel Firpo collide in their scheduled 15 round contest at the Polo Grounds September 14, Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, expects the second largest crowd that ever witnessed a glove contest to be in attendance.

The Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants and one of the biggest baseball plants in the country, will be converted into a massive arena, with a seating capacity of approximately 80,000. The playing field will be covered with temporary seats around the ring, which will be erected in the center of the diamond.

The great crowd that once saw a boxing contest gathered in the pine bowl on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City, N. J., July 2, 1921, to see Dempsey defend his title against Georges Carpentier. Close to 98,000 persons were jammed into the great spaces of the bowl that day. The total receipts for the match were $1,600,000.

Claims were made that this figure was exceeded at the recent Willard-Firpo fight in the Jersey City arena, Rickard estimating the attendance at 100,000, but revised figures showed that the paid attendance was only 75,000 and the receipts $429,920.

The championship bout between Dempsey and Willard at Toledo on July 4, 1919, although seen by only 19,650 spectators, drew a gate of $452,522. This enormous rate was made possible because of the high price of the tickets. Ringside seats sold for $60, while the cheapest benches brought $10 each.

The fight held in the Yankee Stadium May 2 of this year for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund attracted 68,000 persons, who paid $390,000. In the principal bout, Firpo knocked out Jack McAuliffe II, Willard knocked out Floyd Johnson, and Fred Fulton lost to Jack Rehnalt on a foul.

The first of the two contests between Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Lew Tondler, held at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1922, was witnessed by 55,000 with a gate of $387,862. But all records for a lightweight championship were broken when the same men met in the Yankee Stadium two months ago. It was estimated that about 60,000 persons paid close to $400,000 to see Leonard defend his title.

The famous battle of Reno, Nev., of July 4, 1910 in which Jack Johnson, negro holder of the heavyweight title beat Jim Jeffries into submission, failed to draw the expected 20,000 persons. Unusually high prices swelled the gate receipts to $270,775.

The fourth of July battle between Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons, fought in the boom town of Shelby, Mont., July 4, was perhaps the biggest financial failure in the history of championship glove fights. Due to the late minute turn of events, when the guarantee due Dempsey was not forthcoming, causing rumors that the battle would not be held, the attendance was held to approximately 12,500, with estimated receipts of $201,485. Dempsey's promised share alone was more than this sum.

Other famous ring battles that attracted large crowds, with corresponding gate receipts, follow:

| Principals | Attendance | Receipts |
|---------------------------------|------------|-----------|
| Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan | 15,000 | $162,760 |
| Jos. Willard-Frank Moran | 13,000 | $152,000 |
| Johnny Kilbane-Eugene Ciriqli | 21,000 | $2,500 |
| Benny Leonard-Richie Mitchell | 14,000 | $136,400 |
| Benny Leonard-Jack Britton | 26,000 | $130,200 |
| Benny Leonard-Rocky Kansas | 18,300 | $126,760 |
| Johnny Dundee-Eugene Ciriqli | 33,389 | $134,416 |
| Georges Carpentier-Bat Livinsky | 12,120 | $120,000 |
| Jimmy Wilde-Fancho Villa | 23,000 | $4,590 |

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS LOOK GOOD

Seven Lettermen Back With Several Likely Looking New Prospects

With about forty men out, Coach Houser says the prospects are bright for as good a football team as last year. Of the forty men who have turned out so far, seven are lettermen of last year while many of them are either on the squad or received some valuable training last year.

Among the new men who are out for practice the following look likely: Olson, Bender, Robison, Day, Fitch, Seymour, Noddings, Russell, Fitch, Scates, Knowles and G. Lydahl. The letter men who are back this year include: Alfson, Scott, Benzer, Lane, J. Scroggins, O'Hare and Brown.

Coach Houser has arranged the following schedule, which may be added to later:

Alumni Sept. 15
Training School Sept. 22
Valley City Sept. 29
Mandan at Mandan Oct. 13
Dickinson at Dickinson Oct. 20
Mandan at Bismarck Oct. 27

This schedule leaves Oct. 6 open but it is expected that a game for this date will be scheduled in a few days. A strong team will be brought here to play during the Teachers Institute on November 28, according to Houser.

The game with the alumni next Saturday should be a good test of the ability of the High School team according to Coach Houser because the alumni team will be made up of men who have played considerable football since leaving High School. Among the members of the alumni team will be Kludt, Flow, Roberts, Middaugh, Doyle, Holta, L. Flow, Hahn, Hassel, and Cook.

DEMPSEY LIKES CARD GAMES WITH PALS

Although He Likes to Show Them Up and Win Every Hand He Enjoys the Game at His Camp

Saratoga Springs, Sept. 11.—Jack Dempsey likes to play cards with certain of his friends. He also likes to win. And when the games are on in camp, he is particular that he does win.

The world's heavyweight champion admits that he likes to state "frames" and then tell his fellow players how he has put it over on them. He will practice sleight of hand tricks with the cards for hours in order to sneak over something during the progress of a game. He generally has a marked deck around that he rings in unless his camp mates, all of whom are wise to the champion's hobby watch him closely.

As the camp games are always for fun, with no money changing hands, the camp mates get as big a "kick" out of the play as Jack does.

Pinochle, hearts and "rummy" are Dempsey's favorite games.

LUIS SMARTER THAN FOLKS FIGURE

By Bob Dorman
NEA Service Writer
Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 11.—Luis Firpo is no dummy. He had been listening to his friend and interpreter, Carlos Vega, read him an article by a leading sports writer in which the fight with Dempsey was called a farce on account of Firpo's supposed weakness on defense. (Firpo has all the sporting news read to him.)

"So coming to Vega," he said, "So Senor Dempsey will cut me to pieces. I am wide open for every punch."

"Look at my face carefully. Look at my ears. Do you see any scars. Are my ears what you call 'enflorados'?"

A good story is going the rounds of the fight fans in New York regarding Firpo's cannyness in money matters. A magazine which is devoted to sports and which makes a practice of running photos of athletes on the front cover, for which advertising the athlete is supposed to contribute, sent their representative to see Firpo.

The proposition to run Firpo's picture on the front cover for $500, which he thought he had coming for permitting his picture on the front page.

Much of Firpo's tightness in money matters can be laid to the fact that he does not fall for the touches of the panhandlers who beg every man in the pugilistic limelight.

Kinks o' the Links

Player drives his ball into the rough. Upon reaching his ball he discovers the lie is a rather bad one, and the shot very difficult because the slope of the ground made it impossible to assume a proper stance. A rough lie with a resting on a rough, rough nearby. The player so places the stone that, by putting one foot on it, he builds up his stance and greatly improves his chances for a good drive. Is this permissible?

There is nothing in the rules that definitely forbids the building up of one's stance, but it seems such an act would be contrary to custom and would not conform to fair play and good sportsmanship.

A considerable amount of sand has been deposited near a green to be used in the upkeep of the course. Player drives his second shot into the sand close to green. Had not the sand been there the ball would probably have reached the green and the player been in a much more advantageous position. Has the player the right to lift the ball and drop it without penalty?

Since the material, sand, was placed near the green by the greenkeeper, who figured on making certain changes, the player should be permitted to lift and drop his ball without penalty.

What is the proper procedure when a ball lodges in anything movable, such as a wagon or electric lawn mower or any vehicle that is passing across the course, which carries the ball along with it?

In such a case the player has a right to drop his ball without penalty as near as possible to the spot where the ball came into contact with the moving object.

Player tees his ball close to the limits of the teeing ground, feeling that such a position will enable him to get his ball off to advantage on a dog-leg hole. In order to play his ball, which is teed just within the limits, it is necessary that the player assume a position that is outside the limit in addressing the ball. Has the player such a right?

The player is within his rights in standing outside the limits of the teeing ground in order to play his ball which is teed just within the limits.

There are only four fossil forest areas in the world, three being in the United States, the other near Cairo, Egypt.

Hitting Into Many Double Plays Convinces Cobb He's Slowing Up

By NEA Service.
Detroit, Sept. 10.—For several years the baseball experts in the spring have commented on the fact that Ty Cobb was slowing up. Then, just as the experts began to think they were right, Cobb would start on a mad speed rampage that would leave all the fans in a daze.

Despite the chances that Cobb has been taking on the bases for 18 years (not until a few years ago did he suffer any injury to his legs. Then came a knee injury that kept Cobb out of the game for weeks. On his return he seemed as fast as ever. Since that time the knee has been injured, and it is now beginning to tell in the speed of Cobb's most remarkable player.

This year Cobb is being thrown out on slow balls to the infield and fumbled balls that he would have beaten a step or two ten years ago. Incidentally, time and again he has been doubled up. Once upon a time

CREPE NOT GOOD LUCK IN JAPAN

Japanese Baseball Team Blames Crepe Arm Bands For Loss of Games

Tokio, Sept. 11.—The members of the Asahi Middle School baseball team believe they have discovered why they have been losing their games lately.

They decided they wanted baseball uniforms such as were worn by American teams. They saw a photograph of the Cleveland American team in a magazine and took it to a tailor and told him to make uniforms for them just like those of the "Indians."

The uniforms were made. Then the Asahi began to lose. "A few days ago," says the Japanese player, "we asked them why each of them wore a band of crepe around his left arm. The Japanese denied they were in mourning and said they assumed the black band was part of the uniform."

It was learned the photograph of the Cleveland team was taken while its members were in mourning for their champion who died after being hit on the head for a ball.

Dempsey Prefers Drab Colors

New York, Sept. 11.—The bathrobe that boxers wear into the ring have always been in wonderful color combinations. A lemon and black checkered robe with purple trimmings has been worn by many champions. Other ideas range from monograms, or names of the wearer blazoned thereon, to a hodge-podge of shades and figures that fairly take the breath away.

Jack Dempsey, the world's champion has yet to appear in a bathrobe when he makes his entry into the ring for the defense of his title. An old sweater, either faded red or purple, a towel thrown over his head and shoulders is all the wrapping the champion affects. His trunks are invariably white, with his country's colors knotted at the waist.

In his training camp Dempsey affects a dressing gown of dark purple. He wears this during the journey from his cottage to the ring and back again.

There is nothing about Dempsey's wearing apparel, in or out of the ring, that can be termed "loud." In fact his color tastes are extremely modest.

Puzzling Plays

THE PLAY.
Please explain the difference in these two situations:
In the first play there is a runner on third and two out. With three balls and two strikes on the batsman, he swings at the next pitch which is wild. The batsman misses the ball. It likewise gets away from the catcher and rolls to the ground.

The runner from third jogged over the plate on the play, while the batsman was able to reach second before the catcher recovered the ball.

The batsman who went to second failed to touch first. The ball was thrown to the first baseman, held off that base, and the umpire ruled out the runner who failed to touch first.

Does the run count?
In the other play there is a runner on third and two out, and three balls and two strikes on the batsman. The next pitch is wild. The umpire rules it a fourth ball, entitling the batter to first. The pitch eluded the catcher and rolled to the ground.

The runner on third crossed the plate on the play, while the batsman reached second. He failed to touch first. The ball is thrown there and he is declared out, retiring the side. Does the run count?

THE INTERPRETATION.
In the first play the run does not count. The batsman who struck out had reached second on the play, having failed to touch first, never became the occupant of that base. The rules state that a man cannot score on a play in which the batsman fails to reach first for the third out. Failure of the batsman to touch first created just such a situation. Never having touched first he failed to gain title to the base.

In the second play the run counts. The base on balls entitled the batsman to first. In failing to touch that base on his way to second he made himself liable to be put out as was the case, but his action in no way affected the scoring of the run.

Western North Dakota Meet Draws From Big Territory in State

Murphy and Lens, of Jamestown, winners of the doubles and winners of the semi-finals in the singles in the Western North Dakota Tennis Meet held at the Country Club last week will play the championship match at Jamestown as soon as conditions permit, according to Fred Page, manager of the meet held here.

Murphy and Lens, playing as a team, reached the semi-finals in the single play when they were called home to take charge of a meet being held in Jamestown. This makes it necessary for the two men to play off the Western North Dakota title match at Jamestown instead of in this city as planned.

N. Y. NATIONALS ADVANCE LEAD IN LEAGUE

(By the Associated Press)
Chicago, Sept. 11.—The New York Nationals in a battling bee yesterday advanced their lead in the National League to 51-2 games by knocking Boston around the lot 10 to 4. Pittsburgh by shutting out Cincinnati, 8 to 0, regained second place, leading the Reds by a half game.

Brooklyn beat Philadelphia 7 to 1. In the American League the Yankees and Red Sox were the only teams to meet, New York winning, 8 to 1. Babe Ruth again tied Cy Williams for home run honors when he banged out his 35th.

Billy Evans Says

WHEN a champion fighter engages in a no-decision contest you can rest assured that the title-holder seldom steps at top speed. No-decision bouts are regarded as the soft spots by champions. In taking part in such a contest the only thing they must guard against is a post-humous knockout. As a rule they permit their opponent to be the aggressor throughout and it doesn't matter how many points are piled up against the champion. Such things mean nothing in a no-decision bout. At the finish the champion collects the big end of the receipts and departs.

THE above is prompted by the fact that the wires recently carried the report that "Kid" Wagner of Philadelphia had decisively outpointed Champion Dundee in all but one of the eight rounds of a no-decision affair. Some of Dundee's followers read the item with much alarm, feeling that it boded no good for Johnny in his coming bout with Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard.

WHILE it may not be to the credit of the champions, they seldom do their best in a no-decision affair. As a rule such bouts are regarded in the light of training. In his bout with Wagner it is possible that Dundee instead of carrying the fight to the limit was trying to conserve his strength. While he did his best to keep out of the way of the many punches started at him. Keeping away from an opponent calls for more work than being the aggressor. It calls for fast foot work and the most elusive dodging and slipping of punches.

FOR his Philly engagement Dundee probably received from $5000 to $8000. For his bout with Leonard he will receive many times that amount. All of which explains why Dundee took no great chances in his clash with Wagner. Think of what an injured hand would mean trying to stop Wagner, which would add no glory to Dundee's record.

NOW is the time of the year when the heads of many major league managers are cut off by the rumor route. In each major league there are several distinct disappointments. The owners of such teams are naturally disgusted. When a club fails to win with material that appears to be better than the ordinary, the blame is usually placed on the manager without going any deeper, to find perhaps the real reasons.

MANAGING a major league ball club is a far from a soft spot. It is a job that calls for a good strong will and a lot of nerve. You must win. A winning ball club gets the money. A club picked to be in the first division and then fails is always a "bomber" financially, for the fans quit quick when the athletes fail to deliver.

A MANAGER with a one-year contract and his club in the second division as September rolls around isn't to be chided if he starts looking for a new job. Connie Mack, after finishing

ishing in last place for years, once remarked to me with a twinkle in his eye: "While I am worrying about my ball club, thank heaven I don't have to worry about my job. You see, I am not a fireman. No doubt Connie is the only ball-and-manager in the history of the game who didn't have to worry about his job."

In addition to the experienced players who are expected to seek letters on the 1923 squad, Coach Rea is confident that the fall matriculation will bring additional good material for his machine. But the new squad will have a hard task in attempting to lower the mark set by last year's team under the field leadership of Captain John Meinhardt.

LEGAL BLOCK REMOVED FOR BIG FIGHT

Court Rules That Dempsey-Firpo Fight May Be Staged Friday Night

ARENA STARTED

New York, Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—With the removal yesterday of all legal obstacles that have beset the path of the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight title match, work was rushed on the additions to the Polo Grounds arena, advance ticket sales boomed and the boxing pit redoubled energy in the stages of their training camps for the battle next Friday night.

The threatened entanglements were brushed aside in supreme court when Justice Hagarty denied the application of Harry Wills, negro challenger, for a temporary injunction against the championship struggle. Wills charged that he had been unjustly discriminated against by the state athletic commission and that his challenge to Dempsey more than a year ago had been ignored, but the court ruled that he had put forward no basis for interference with the forthcoming bout.

FIRPO LIVES UP WORK

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—The same heavy sparring sessions, made more interesting by their liveliness, were done today by Luis Angel Firpo, who meets Jack Dempsey for the world's title in New York Friday night. The Argentine worked for speed, practiced defense and gave his jaw and stomach the punch test. His sparring mates, John Lester Johnson, Young Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe McCann, as usual, left the ring pretty well worn.

The South American seemed to have acquired the knack of shooting left, then right, and then left, instead of launching the "famed" right, then backing away and letting it go again. He saw the effect of this sort of punching and appeared pleased.

There had been talk early today that Firpo's left arm was giving him trouble, but there was no evidence of soreness during the workout.

WALKER SEES DEMPSEY

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Sept. 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Plunging into his final two days of training, Jack Dempsey resumed an amazing burst of speed in five rounds of boxing against four sparring partners yesterday, convincing his admirers that he was ready to defend his title against Luis Angel Firpo at the Polo Grounds Friday night.

The world's heavyweight champion, satisfied with the power back of his punches, intends to devote the last two days to sharpening his judgment of distance. Jack Kearns, manager of the titleholder, before leaving for New York last night, said Dempsey would box today and Wednesday, but only against light sparring partners.

Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion, believes Dempsey will dispose of Firpo within three or four rounds. Walker watched the champion go through his paces and proclaimed him to be in perfect condition.

EXPECT SECOND LARGEST CROWD TO SEE FIGHT

Tex Richard Sees Prospects of Second Largest Crowd in History of the Ring

Largest Crowd Saw Jack Dempsey Defend His Title Against Carpenter

New York, Sept. 11.—When Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and Luis Angel Firpo collide in their scheduled 15 round contest at the Polo Grounds September 14, Tex Rickard, promoter of the match, expects the second largest crowd that ever witnessed a glove contest to be in attendance.

The Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants and one of the biggest baseball plants in the country, will be converted into a massive arena, with a seating capacity of approximately 80,000. The playing field will be covered with temporary seats around the ring, which will be erected in the center of the diamond.

The greatest crowd that ever saw a boxing contest gathered in the place bowl on Boyle's Thirty Acres in Jersey City, N. J., July 2, 1921, to see Dempsey's first fight against Georges Carpentier. Close to 70,000 persons were jammed into the great spaces of the bowl that day. The total receipts approximated $1,500,000.

Claims were made that this figure was exceeded at the recent Willard-Firpo fight in the Jersey City arena, Rickard estimating the attendance at 100,000 persons. Usually the highest crowd that the paid attendance was only 75,000 and the receipts $429,920.

The championship bout between Dempsey and Willard at Toledo on July 4, 1919, although seen by only 19,500 spectators, drew a gate of $452,522. This enormous rate was made possible because of the high price of the tickets. Ring-side seats sold for $50, while the cheapest benches brought $10 each.

The bouts held in the Yankee Stadium May 12 of this year for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund attracted 63,000 persons, who paid $390,000. In the principal bouts Firpo knocked out Jack McLaughlin II, Willard knocked out Floyd Johnson, and Fred Fulton lost to Jack Benoit on a foul.

The first of the two contests between Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Lew Tendler, held at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1922, was witnessed by 55,000 with a gate of $367,862. But all records for a lightweight championship were broken when the same men met in the Yankee Stadium two months ago. It was estimated that about 60,000 persons paid close to $400,000 to see Leonard defend his title.

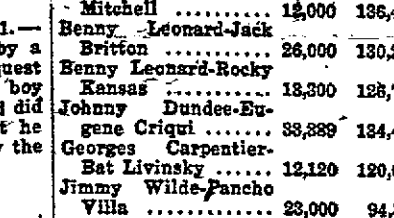

The famous battle of Reno, Nev., of July 4, 1910 in which Jack Johnson, negro holder of the heavyweight title beat Jim Jeffries into submission in 14 rounds, was witnessed by 20,000. Usually the high prize swelled the gate receipts to $270,775.

The fourth of July battle between Dempsey and Tommy Gibbons, fought in the booby town of Shelby, Mont., July 4, was perhaps the biggest financial failure in the history of championship fights. Due to the last minute turn of events, when the guarantee due Dempsey was forthcoming, causing rumors that the battle would not be held, the attendance was held to approximately 12,500 with estimated receipts of $201,485. Dempsey's promised share alone was more than this sum.

Another famous ring battles that attracted large crowds, the corresponding gate receipts, follow:

Principals Attendance Receipts
Jack Dempsey-Bill Brennan 15,000 $162,760
Jess Willard-Frank Moran 13,000 152,000
Johnny Kilbane-Eugene Criqui 21,000 62,500
Benny Leonard-Richie Mitchell 12,000 136,400
Benny Leonard-Jack Britton 26,000 130,200
Benny Leonard-Rocky Kansas 13,300 128,760
Johnny Dundee-Eugene Criqui 38,889 134,416
Georges Carpentier-Bat Livinsky 12,120 120,000

Back Wash

THE business of refining petroleum has many hazards—not the least of which accrues from the necessity of balancing the supply with the demand.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always has kept itself in a position to supply the demand of its customers for petroleum products, no matter how great or abnormal the demand might be.

During the winter months, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) refined and stored large quantities of gasoline in anticipation of the busy summer season. Other refiners in the Middle West pursued the same course.

In previous years the midcontinent refiners have found a ready market for their surplus product on the Atlantic seaboard.

This year the heavy, unprecedented and unlooked-for California production upset calculations. Enormous quantities of California crude petroleum and California gasoline were shipped to the Eastern seaboard by boat, flooding the market and cutting off one of the principal outlets of the midcontinent refiners.

The result was a back wash of distress gasoline in the Middle West which had to be sold.

It was this distress gasoline that the Governor of South Dakota was able to purchase at less than the present day cost of manufacture and distribution. By selling it without profit, and without any expense for distribution, he was enabled to announce a drastic, temporary reduction from the then existing selling price.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) while protesting that it was below the cost of production, refining and distribution plus a reasonable profit met this price because it is the established principle of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that its customers shall be able to buy its products as cheaply as they can buy similar products from any competitors.

The success achieved, by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is due in larger measure to the fact that at all times it has held paramount the welfare of its customers whose respect and esteem it has won and intends to hold.
